After India, now Brazil opts out of China's Belt and Road Initiative

Brazil has decided not to join China's Belt and Road Initiative (BRI), becoming the 2nd BRICS member after India to opt out of the project. Brazil, headed by President Lula da Silva, will instead seek alternative ways to collaborate with Chinese investors. Brazil wants to 'take the relationship with China to a new level, without having to sign an accession contract', Celso Amorim, special presidential adviser for international affairs, told Brazilian newspaper O Globo. India was the first BRICS country to publicly oppose BRI

Charles, Camilla on secret B'luru trip for treatment

SUBHASH CHANDRA NS & RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

KING Charles III is on his first secret visit to Bengaluru after his coronation as king of the United Kingdom on May 6, 2023, at Westminster Abbey, London. He arrived in Bengaluru on October 27 and will be at the Soukya International Holistic Health Centre (SIHHC) in Whitefield for wellness treatment till Wednesday night, when he is expected to fly to London.

Sources privy to his secret visit informed this newspaper that King Charles arrived in Bengaluru directly from Samoa where he attended the 2024 Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting from October 21-26.

His visit to Bengaluru was strictly kept under wraps and he was directly taken to SIHHC where he was also joined by his wife Queen Camilla.

According to sources, the couple's day begins with a morning yoga session, followed by breakfast and rejuvenation treatment before lunch. After a brief rest, a second round of therapies follows, ending with a meditation session before dinner and lights out by 9 pm. They have been enjoying long walks around the campus, visiting the organic farm and cattle shed.

Considering the high-profile secret visit, a high-security ring was thrown around SIHHC.

The health centre, founded by Dr Issac Mathai, is located in Samethanahalli, Whitefield, on Bengaluru's outskirts. This integrative medical facility combines traditional systems of medicine, including Ayurveda, Homeopathy, Yoga, and Naturopathy, along with over 30 complementary therapies like Reflexology, Acupressure, Acupuncture and Dietetics.

Although this is his first visit as a monarch, Charles has visited the centre on nine earlier occasions, and celebrated Deepavali on three occasions there. The royal couple has earlier taken wellness treatments, including anti-aging, detoxification and rejuvenation.

On November 14, 2019, the couple celebrated the then Prince Charles' 71st birthday at SIHHC, an event which attracted a lot of publicity unlike this visit.

Formerly the Prince of Wales, Charles became King after the death of his mother Queen Elizabeth II on September 8, 2022.

India to fine GE over fighter jet engines delay

Delivery schedule running late by two years; first batch expected by March 2025

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE Centre has decided to impose penalties on US manufacturer GE Aerospace for delays in the delivery of jet engines for Indian Air Force's indigenous light combat aircraft, Tejas Mk-1A. The government is also tightening the procurement norms to safeguard the sensitive details of defence contracts, highly placed sources told this newspaper.

The penalty clause against GE Aerospace has been invoked for the delay in the supply of GE-404 engines contracted by India for the Mk-1A series. All defence contracts carry a penalty clause to make the contractor follow a fixed timeline; in case of breach of this timeline, they will have to pay a reasonable compensation.

Sources said GE Aerospace shifted delivery schedule multiple times, cumulatively leading to a delay of two years.

The delivery was supposed to start in 2023; it has now been pushed back to March 2025, going by GE's latest schedule.

GE has been contracted to manufacture and deliver 99 jet engines (GE-404) and not even one has been delivered, Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) sources told this newspaper. The deal, signed between HAL and GE Aerospace in 2021, was worth $716 million.

Flagging the inordinate delays, Chief of Air Staff A P Singh said in October: "It is a known fact that Tejas has been delayed. There is no doubt. There is also a promise that the production rate will be increased to 24 aircraft per year. If that promise is kept, the delays can be caught up with. The first aim is not to let our aircraft strength go down."

WAY PAST DEADLINE

Air Force ordered 83 LCA Tejas Mk1As from HAL for ₹46,000 crore in 2021; delivery was to start in March 2024 but delayed due to non-receipt of engines from GE

Sources in the know said the delays are purely a logistics matter involving GE Aerospace, which is facing some issues with its suppliers, and that HAL could not be faulted for this.

The delays were also flagged at the highest levels with Prime Minister Narendra Modi raising the issue during his visit to the US in September.

The government is also working on a new procurement system to protect sensitive information. "We are working to get hold of a model so that we are not hauled to courts and asked to reveal national secrets," a senior official told this newspaper.

CM sets ₹10K cr monthly tax collection target

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah, who has been under pressure to shore up revenues, on Tuesday tasked the officials with meeting the state's commercial tax collection targets. At a review meeting, the CM underscored the need for achieving the targets to support the development goals of the state.

The meeting focused on the progress of tax collection towards achieving the annual target of Rs 1,10,000 crore for the financial year 2024-25. As of October end, collections stand at Rs 58,773 crore, marking 53.5% of the target. This includes GST of Rs 44,783 crore, Karnataka Sales Tax of Rs13,193 crore and Professional Tax of Rs 797 crore. Collections have increased by Rs 5,957 crore compared to the same period last year. To meet the yearly goal by March, an average monthly collection of Rs 10,200 crore has to be achieved for the remaining five months, he said.

He called for enhanced coordination among various departments and said, "Achieving the target is essential for the state's development." He committed to conducting monthly review meetings and said the officials who fail to meet their targets will be held accountable. The Karasamadhana scheme is expected to add Rs 2,000 crore more to the state's revenue.

Startups get a leg-up with 2 govt flagship initiatives

To help in tackling challenges in funding and growth opportunities

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a move that aims to boost Karnataka's startup landscape, IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge on Tuesday unveiled two flagship initiatives — Elevate-2024 and Karnataka Acceleration Network (KAN) — to support startups with funding, mentorship and growth opportunities.

Elevate aims to offer a grant-in-aid seed fund to early-stage startups, empowering them with funds up to Rs 50 lakh along with resources like incubation, mentorship and connections with venture capital networks. Elevate is part of the Karnataka Startup Policy 2022-27 and provides additional benefits, including reimbursement for patent and marketing costs, GST incentives and subsidised incubation access.

The application window is open from October 29 to November 29 for startups in sectors like Artificial Intelligence, DeepTech and SpaceTech.

Speaking about KAN, the minister highlighted that the programme is tailored for growth-stage startups, offering structured mentorship, market access and funding opportunities. "Over the next three years, KAN aims to support 302 startups through six cohorts, in collaboration with established Bengaluru-based mentor accelerators and regional mentee incubators across the state," he said.

The Karnataka Digital Economy Mission (KDEM) will implement KAN as part of the state's mission to foster innovation beyond Bengaluru, Kharge said. "With programmes like Elevate and KAN, we are tackling challenges in funding and scalability to place Karnataka among the top three global startup hubs," he added.

The minister also launched the official Bengaluru Tech Summit (BTS) app to enhance the experience for attendees to the upcoming summit. The app, available on android and iOS, offers multiple tools and real-time updates. "With features like the Interlinx B2B matching tool and digital business card exchanges, attendees can easily experience the summit, scheduled from November 19-21," Kharge said.

State registers 263 startups, 40 enter global market

RISHITA KHANNA @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA, known as a hub for innovation and business development, has registered 263 new startups across various sectors, including 85 women-led startups, since September 2023.

IT-BT Minister Priyank Kharge told TNIE that the startup landscape has extended beyond the traditional powerhouses of IT and biotechnology with health tech and edtech sectors now experiencing substantial growth, with 62 startups in healthcare and 50 in edtech.

He attributed the surge in these sectors to the post-pandemic emphasis on digital learning and the growing demand for innovative healthcare solutions. He mentioned that edtech startups are focusing on developing digital learning platforms and educational tools, which are reshaping how education is delivered. Meanwhile, health tech startups are concentrating on medical technology advancements, healthcare delivery, and wellness products, addressing ongoing challenges in health management and patient care.

Kharge revealed that approximately 40 startups from Karnataka have entered global markets through the Global Innovation Alliance -- Market Access Programme (GIA-MAP). "This initiative facilitated market access for 10 startups each in the UAE, Singapore and Australia, as well as seven in Belgium, allowing these startups to connect with foreign investors, partners, and customers," he said.

The government and the department have implemented several programmes to promote startups , he said and highlighted initiatives, including Elevate Kalyana Karnataka 2022, Amrita Startups 2022, Elevate Unnati 2022 and 2023, and Elevate 2023 Call 2, committing a Rs 60.14 crores to these ventures.

He highlighted the recent "WEscalate" programme, which aims to promote women-led startups through a dual-phase incubation and acceleration model. "In the initial incubation phase, startups receive foundational support, such as mentorship, resources and early-stage funding, to help them establish their business models and gain market insights. The acceleration phase focuses on growth and scalability, providing advanced resources, networking opportunities, and potential funding connections to propel startups towards larger markets and sustainability," Kharge said. The two-step model is tailored to guide women entrepreneurs from concept to expansion, he pointed out.

Rising gold prices fail to dampen festive spirit

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

INCREASING gold and silver prices haven't dampened the spirits of buyers, especially the youth, this Dhanteras festival.

Members of the Karnataka and Bengaluru Jewellers' Association said that people this year invested more in gold schemes and bonds compared to the previous year. This festival, sales of jewellery — more of antique and temple — have been on the rise compared to gold and silver coins, as had been the practice," said Chetan Kumar Mehta, president of the association.

Compared to the previous year, there has been a 10% rise in sales. Bengaluru saw most of the sales. The demand was more for earrings and 'kadaas' compared to sets, in Bengaluru city. Last year, Bengaluru saw jewellery sales of around Rs 400 crore. "I am aware of the rising cost and global crises. But this is the right time to invest in gold as its prices will not drop. They will only go up. I also have to start planning and saving for my future. I shifted my monthly savings to gold bonds and it helped me this festive season," said Jyothika Reddy, an IT professional.

Raveena L, a software professional, who was looking at making purchases not just as an investment, but for her wedding, expressed similar views. "I have to purchase jewellery again for my wedding. The gold rates are high and there is a probability of increasing further. Dhanteras is an auspicious day to purchase and invest in gold," she said.

Association members said the trend this time is reselling jewellery, which saw a 15-20% appreciation. The members also referred to the rise in sales of silver coins through various online platforms, which deliver groceries and food items.

"People preferred small coins for pujas, which are also considered auspicious. But the focus is more on jewellery, small and mid-sized. People saw it not just as an investment, but also for their social functions. The hike in gold prices made people look at it as an investment," said DV Ramesh, association member.

DCM ASKS IT-BT FIRMS TO HOIST KANNADA FLAG ON NOV 1

Bengaluru: Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivakumar has called upon IT and BT companies, factories and private enterprises to hoist the Kannada flag on their premises during Kannada Rajyotsava on November 1. In a video appeal in both Kannada and English on Tuesday, the DCM said, "Let us celebrate Kannada Rajyotsava by making it even more special this year. All IT/BT companies, factories, private enterprises and organisations are requested to hoist the Kannada flag on the occasion of Kannada Rajyotsava." He appealed to them to make the Kannada a mantra of life and to spread the language. "Our land is our pride and our flag is our pride. This is our land. Suburban's Mallige line work will be over by Sept '26: Officials to CS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CHIEF Secretary Shalini Rajneesh expressed displeasure at the delay of works related to the Suburban Rail's Corridor 2, also known as the Mallige line. The 25.01-km line will connect Baiyappanahalli to Chikkabanavara. Rajneesh inspected the progress of the project in the Kanakanagar stretch of Corridor 2, along with K-RIDE Managing Director Dr Manjula N and senior K-RIDE officers on Tuesday.

She took the representatives of the contractor to task, asking them reasons for the delay of the project. "We have come here to know the problems. Only if the problems are listed, then we can take steps to address them," she said.

She was informed that issues pertaining to railway land encroachment and the presence of water and power lines are delaying the project. In a radius of 25 km, there are land issues at more than 60 locations and K-RIDE officials said steps are being taken to address these.

Rajneesh directed them that the water and power lines should be shifted with the support of the departments concerned. Officials said all measures are being taken to complete the Mallige line work by September 2026. As an interim goal, works between Chikkabanavara and Yeshvanthpur will be completed, they said.

Manjula said a proposal has been submitted to the state government for the purchase of rolling stock for the Suburban Rail project and soon a meeting in this regard will be taken up.

Jumbo dies in Bannerghatta forest, first death this year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

A TUSKER, aged around 8-9 years, died in Bannerghatta National Park (BNP) on Tuesday morning. According to forest officials, the animal died due to possible shock and herpes infection. The autopsy revealed that there was no human intervention in the death of the animal like electrocution, road accident or shooting.

"Animals and humans can get sudden shocks like neuro panic, vascular or septisemic. Samples have been sent for analysis and only the final report will show what else was the cause of death apart from herpes viral infection," said an official.

The young bull was found collapsed on the ground by the patrol staff in Murgandaddi in Anekal range, around 20-30 metres away from the road that cuts through the forest. By the time staffers reached the spot to help the animal, it had died.

This is the first elephant death reported in BNP this year. As per the forest department, the national park spread across 106.83 sqkm, abutting the city, houses 127 elephants.

Forest officials said viral infections and shocks are common among wild animals, especially herbivores. "Elephants are susceptible to herpes infection, especially young bulls. Older ones are usually able to develop resistance, but not the young ones. There is a rise in the number of elephants getting infected with the virus, but detection is a problem. Also in the wild, humans should not interfere. In calfs and juveniles, it's not possible to see the symptoms, hence deaths occur," the official added.

PETER VIDAL

30TH October: A last word for the week about Capricorn. Some astrologers claim that both India and Great Britain are Capricornian countries. They point to their shared history over many centuries, and links between languages, food and even religion. Personally, I think the relationship between the two nations is a great example to many others of the way in which different cultures can meet, mix and become friends.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
There's only one conclusion to be drawn from Mercury's curious series of celestial connections: you're on peak form creatively. But where's your wicked sense of humour? This is still a prosperous period, by the way, in spite of appearances to the contrary.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
Your midweek stars favour lively developments at home. If you're stuck in a rut, or otherwise bored by routine, try a little lateral thinking. With the right attitude you'll be able to cut through the mass of emotional dross that's holding you back.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Loved ones could have problems they simply cannot discuss, so you may have to understand that someone must be left in peace. It would be worth your while seeking the company of people who support your ideas. You see, someone, somewhere, has the advice you need, but you won't know who unless you search them out.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
You should not be at all surprised if loved ones are acting out of character. The fact is that many people just don't know what they want and it's quite natural that they should lead you a merry old dance. Mind you, I am quite sure that you can give as good as you get.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
It looks as though one particular arrangement may have to be terminated before very much longer. As yet, you may not be sure what is going on. Indeed, it may be next week before you have all the answers. All you need to know now is that partners are likely to agree to one thing, one day, another, the next.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You're a fan of justice and you love to do the right thing. What is said or done now may seem terribly unfair. However, please try to understand that, while the planets are inclining you to be rather self-pitying, they are also challenging you to rise above such petty feelings.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A long-standing relationship is set to receive an important boost. It seems increasingly likely that someone with prestige and status in the community will be entering your life before long. You may even receive an offer which will transform your personal affairs.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Major alterations at work are liable to result from differences of opinion. In a sense it's not the actual situation that matters, but disagreements about what should be done next. Take your time. After all, nobody has any right to pressurise you until you're ready.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
I know it's an old cliché, but there is a difference between the law and justice. You may be a little too hung up on the former, whereas what is really needed is the flexibility and compassion of the latter. Perhaps that's why you're not yet ready to make up your mind.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Current planetary activity denotes a period of intellectual curiosity. It's therefore almost inevitable that you will question a number of established assumptions. You must allow partners to have their say, otherwise they'll harbour a grudge until next month.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Your wonderfully mischievous sense of humour should be well to the fore over the coming few days. It's often the most serious people, such as you, who are best able to see the funny side of things. And after all that has happened recently, you just have to laugh.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
You will derive long-term benefits from a proposed upheaval, but it seems that there will be little actual change just yet. You are advised to lay the ground carefully before rushing ahead. And, in love, you'll keep partners fully informed of all your feelings.

Woman alleges husband trying to sacrifice son for more wealth

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN a bizarre incident, a man allegedly attempted to kill his son for financial gains by performing black magic, thus prompting his wife to file a police complaint against him. Vanajakshi, a resident of KR Puram, submitted a petition to the City Police Commissioner on Monday, after the KR Puram police reportedly failed to register her case.

Vanajakshi married Saddam, alias Aadhi Eshwar, in 2020. Both were employed at a private logistics company, when Saddam proposed to her and they married according to Hindu customs later that year. In her petition, she stated that she faced harassment, life-threatening actions, and coercive religious conversion attempts by her husband. However, by the end of 2020, Saddam forcibly compelled her to remarry him under Muslim rituals, claiming it would bring them good fortune. He took her to a disclosed location with an accomplice, Langda Nayaz, where she was forced into converting to Islam and was renamed Sadiya Kausar. Besides, he also pressured her to sign documents for a Muslim marriage certificate, which she refused. In her petition, she noted that in July 2021, she gave birth to their son, Karan Raj. Saddam allegedly threatened to sacrifice the child in a black magic ritual called 'Kutti Pooja' to gain wealth. On September 19, Saddam and Langda Nayaz attempted to abduct the child at their residence in Tumakuru. Due to the intervention of bystanders, she managed to escape with her son. This incident, forced her and her family to live in hiding.

HC order on Darshan's interim bail plea today

Actor's counsel: Docs suggested physiotherapy or surgery immediately for spinal problem

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Wednesday will pass the order on the interim bail sought by actor Darshan, an accused in the Renukaswamy murder case, on medical grounds.

Justice S Vishwajith Shetty reserved the order after hearing the arguments of Darshan's counsel and the Special Public Prosecutor (SPP) on the interim bail application.

Senior Counsel CV Nagesh, arguing on behalf of Darshan, said that doctors have suggested that the actor undergo physiotherapy or surgery immediately for a spinal problem. If Darshan is not admitted for treatment immediately, the delay will lead to serious disaster for his health, including urological problems, he said. "It is always the right of the accused to take treatment at his choice of hospital. As the neurological navigation facility is not there in the government super speciality hospital at Ballari, the accused will be taken to a private hospital in Mysuru for treatment if the court permits," he argued.

SPP P Prasanna Kumar argued that the medical board be constituted by the court for evaluation of the ailments of the accused, the nature of the surgery required, what is the time required to treat him, whether he has to be admitted as an inpatient, if so, how many days he is required to undergo treatment and rest, etc. Darshan could be shifted to government hospitals in Bengaluru if the medical board suggested and not to private hospital in Mysuru, he argued.

He also argued that the government hospitals are equipped with several specialised jail wards. "Even the prison premises are equipped with specialist doctors. The petitioner has been advised to undergo an MRI scan to ascertain the necessity of treatment. At present, there is no material which would indicate the necessity or the details of treatment which are to be availed by the petitioner and the requirement for the same. Even otherwise, the government hospitals are well equipped to conduct surgery and provide treatment... Such being the case, the said application is devoid of merits and it is liable to be rejected," the SPP argued.

HC quashes proceedings against pilot for Jakkur plane accident in 2022

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court quashed the proceedings against Akash Jaiswal, the pilot of a Cessna aircraft that toppled at Jakkur Aerodrome in Bengaluru in 2022.

The secretary of the Government Flying Training School, Jakkur had filed a complaint against Jaiswal with the Amruthahalli police. The high court observed that the registration of the FIR without sanction from competent authorities is contrary to law. Permitting further trial in the case because the police have filed a chargesheet would undoubtedly become an abuse of the process of law and result in miscarriage of justice, Justice M Nagaprasanna observed.

He quashed the proceedings, while allowing the petition filed by Jaiswal, who hails from Haryana, questioning the trial court's decision to take cognisance of the offence punishable under Section 11 of the Aircraft Act. "It is an admitted fact in the case at hand that the complaint is not preceded by a sanction, as is necessary in law. The complaint would mean a complaint before the Magistrate invoking Section 200 of the CrPC and not a complaint before the jurisdictional police. Therefore, on these twin circumstances that the complaint is not before the learned Magistrate and the complaint is not with the previous sanction of the authorities, the entire act of registration of the complaint before the Amruthahalli police station and the act of the learned Magistrate taking cognizance of the offence is rendered a nullity," the court observed.

The complaint was registered against Jaiswal on April 17, 2022, after the VT-ETU Cessna aircraft, which he was flying, toppled when it veered to the left while taking off. It was said that he was trying to avoid birds and dogs on the tarmac. But terming it an aircraft accident caused by the negligence of the pilot, the crime was registered. After the chargesheet was filed, the trial court took cognisance of the offence under Section 11 of the Act. Jaiswal's counsel argued that the trial court could not take cognisance of the offence without sanction under Section 12B of the Aircraft Act from the Director General of Civil Aviation.

Hospitals scale up to treat firecracker burns

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AHEAD of Deepavali, Victoria and Minto Hospitals in the city have enhanced their emergency preparedness to address anticipated firecracker injuries, with dedicated facilities, staff, and resources on standby.

The Victoria Hospital's burns care centre, known for its comprehensive burns care, is fully equipped with a dedicated burns unit and an exclusive block for firecracker-related injuries. The hospital instructed doctors and staff to work round the clock for emergency surgeries and critical cases. ICU facilities with ventilators, and surplus supplies of dressing materials, antibiotics, and fluids have also been stocked. To prevent cross-contamination, individual cabins are in place for every patient who comes with burn injuries. Minor cases of superficial burns will be managed on an outpatient basis and a plastic surgery unit is also on standby for acute cases.

Minto Ophthalmic Hospital has also set up a special ward with 35 beds, for patients who need inpatient treatment for firecracker-related eye injuries. With specialists available 24/7, the hospital has also prepared its operation theatre for urgent eye surgeries.

CRACKER INJURY WARD

Ahead of Deepavali, staffers of Minto Eye Hospital set up the cracker injury ward, in Bengaluru on Tuesday

Permission for sale of crackers granted to 315 applicants

Bengaluru: The city police announced strict measures to curb the illegal sale of crackers online and by unlicensed individuals this Deepavali. Speaking to reporters on Tuesday, City Police Commissioner B Dayananda said that temporary permission for the sale of crackers has been granted to 315 out of 1,518 applicants, with 74 designated locations identified for legal cracker sales. To avoid mishaps and increase vigilance, a task force will be formed. It will comprise of an Assistant Commissioner of Police (ACP), officials from the BBMP, electricity department, and State Pollution Control Board. He further stated that cases are already being registered against individuals selling non-green crackers, unauthorised vendors and others who sold crackers online. Offenders will face charges under the Explosives Act. Senior officers urged the public to purchase only certified green crackers, advising them to scan the QR code on the package to verify their authenticity. Crackers are to be burst between 8pm and 10 pm.

No farmer will be evicted, says CM

Says notices will be withdrawn; BJP accuses state govt of testing farmers' patience

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AMID allegations by a section of farmers from Honavada village of Tikota taluk in Vijayapura district that their lands were marked as Waqf properties, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday clarified that no farmer will be evicted and the notices issued to them will be withdrawn.

Meanwhile, Karnataka BJP president BY Vijayendra said that the issue was not just limited to Vijayapura district and added that the State Government is now testing the patience of farmers.

Speaking to the media in Bengaluru, Siddaramaiah said that Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, Industries and Vijayapura District in-charge Minister MB Patil, and Waqf Minister BZ Zameer Ahmed had clarified on the issue at a press conference on Monday.

Meanwhile, Vijayendra warned the government of severe consequences if land is taken away from farmers. "We are unwavering in our commitment to protect our farmers and will not allow any further injustice to them," the BJP leader said.

Hitting out at Minister Zameer Ahmed, Vijayendra said, "Zameer boasts about directing government officials to change land records overnight... this is a clear testament to the nefarious anti-farmer policies of this Congress government. It is deeply concerning that this took place with the full cognisance of the Chief Minister, as indicated by Minister Zameer Ahmed in his speech. The silence of CM Siddaramiah and other Congress ministers speaks volumes. Rather than defending the rights of farmers, they have facilitated this crime right under their noses. This silence sends a troubling message that the government prioritises vested interests of Minorities over the welfare and rights of Karnataka's farmers," Vijayendra posted on 'X'.

Vijayendra also said that a few agricultural lands in Yadgir and Dharwad districts are also now considered Waqf properties.

Waqf law itself was a mistake, says Joshi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hubballi

"WAQF law in India itself was a mistake. Removing it entirely would be ideal," said Union Minister of Food and Consumer Affairs Pralhad Joshi on Tuesday.

Speaking in Dharwad, he questioned why Congress enacted the Waqf law during Nehru's time and granted more unlimited powers to Waqf Boards in 2013. "Does this law hold unquestionable authority that even the Supreme Court cannot challenge," he asked. If this law is removed, everything will fall into place, he said.

"Considering the current developments, it is essential to at least amend the Waqf law. There needs to be a restriction on those who use Waqf as a pretext to grab land. There is no limit to Waqf's powers in the country," he said, calling on Hindus and farmers to be vigilant. "It will be no surprise if the Waqf Board claims ownership of our homes and land in the future," he said. Accusing Congress of appeasement politics by granting Waqf Boards such unlimited authority, he said it is unacceptable in any form.

He claimed that Waqf Minister Zameer Ahmad Khan and Congress have supported the Waqf Board in acquiring farmers' properties, temples, monasteries and even the land of poor Muslims.

He demanded that the state government immediately suspend the tahsildar and officials for amending land records and declaring farmers' lands as Waqf property in Dharwad district.

Joshi alleged that officials asking farmers to submit documents, but make Waqf entries without verification. He warned that the failure to rectify the records could lead to intense protests.

It is essential to at least amend the Waqf law. There needs to be a restriction on those who use Waqf as a pretext to grab land.

Hubballi FMCG arena to foster sustainable growth: Patil

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO help Karnataka's efforts to attract manufacturing and industrial investments, Large and Medium Industries Minister MB Patil on Tuesday unveiled the FMCG manufacturing ecosystem developed by Aequs Infra at the Hubballi cluster.

"This initiative is set to position Karnataka as a leader in the Fast-Moving Consumer Goods (FMCG) sector," Patil said.

"Karnataka aspires to expand beyond its established sectors like aerospace, pharmaceuticals, and technology. The FMCG ecosystem in Hubballi will foster both large corporations and SMEs," he said.

This inclusive approach aligns with Karnataka's vision of supporting businesses of all sizes, reinforcing the state's commitment to a balanced and dynamic industrial landscape, he noted. The Hubballi Cluster offers advanced infrastructure and optimised logistics, he said.

Mentioning the Karnataka Industrial Policy 2020-25, he highlighted the state's commitment to pro-business policies. He added that a new industrial policy is in development.

He noted that Karnataka's strong educational ecosystem produces thousands of engineering, management, and technical graduates each year, ensuring a skilled talent pipeline to support the demands of the manufacturing and FMCG sectors.

Arvind Melligeri, Chairman of Aequs Inc, and Ullas Kamath, Chairman of FICCI Karnataka Council, among others, were present.

PM GIVING PUSH TO SKILL-BASED JOB CREATION: KUMARASWAMY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

TO encourage skill-based job creation aimed at achieving the goal of a developed India by 2047, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has allocated Rs 3 lakh crore in the recent budget, said Union Minister for Heavy Industries and Steel HD Kumaraswamy.

Kumaraswamy distributed appointment letters to 25 youths during the second phase of the Prime Minister's Employment Fair (Rozgar Mela). Appointment letters were issued to 51,000 selected youths across various Central government departments at 40 locations nationwide. PM Modi virtually attended the programme, which was held at Jnana Jyothi Auditorium in Bengaluru.

Kumaraswamy said recruitment had taken place in 12 departments of the Central government. PM Modi is encouraging skill-based job creation with the aim of achieving a developed India by 2047, and Rs 3 lakh crore has been earmarked in the budget for this purpose, which will be released directly to MSMEs, he stated.

Modi is promoting job creation under the Make in India and Atmanirbhar Bharat initiatives, the Union minister said. The Production Linked Incentive (PLI) scheme is also making considerable strides in the employment sector, and will help transform India into the third-largest economic power, he added. Bengaluru Rural MP Dr CN Manjunath and Chief Postmaster General of Karnataka Rajendra Kumar also attended the event.

'Where is caste census report?'

Kumaraswamy questioned why the caste census report had not been released yet. "How long has it been since the Chief Minister accepted the Kantharaju report, and the report by Jayaprakash Hegde? What are you doing with them? Why haven't they been released yet? Siddaramaiah is making accusations against me, but is holding on to both reports. He keeps saying they will bring it before the cabinet. Discussions about sub-committees and commissions are going on," he charged.

HDK to respond after results

Kumaraswamy said that Congress leaders have been making derogatory remarks about his family during the election campaign. They made statements against HD Deve Gowda, claiming that he campaigns in a wheelchair and ambulance. "They wish for his death," he claimed. "I won't speak on any of this now. I have noted all their statements. I will respond after results are out."

ED grills MUDA ex-chief Natesh, releases him

BENGALURU: The former commissioner of Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA), DB Natesh, was detained on Tuesday night, and subjected to marathon round of questioning by ED officials. Later in the night, ED officials allowed Natesh to go. The agency is investigating a money laundering case registered in connection with the alleged illegal distribution of MUDA sites to CM Siddaramaiah's wife, Parvathi BM. The ED took Natesh from his residence in Malleswaram, 10th Cross, to its office in Shanthinagar on Tuesday night. The ED raided his house on Monday, while also carrying out a search and seizure operation at the JP Nagar residence of N Manjunatha, the proprietor of Karthik Builders. The agency seized documents related to the MUDA scam and also conducted raids at eight other locations in Bengaluru and Mysuru on Monday. ENS

Cabinet move on internal quota likely to impact bypolls

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

THE state cabinet's decision to set up a single-member commission headed by a retired high court judge to review implementation of internal reservation, classifying the quota for the Scheduled Castes, is likely to have its impact on the November 13 byelections to the Legislative Assembly from Channapatna, Shiggaon and Sandur constituencies.

Happy with this decision, Congress leaders, especially from the SC left (Madiga) community, including Excise Minister RB Thimmapur, former minister H Anjaneya, and former RS member Dr L Hanumanthaiah, met Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Tuesday and expressed their gratitude.

These leaders, who have been given the task of ensuring the victory of Congress candidates in the byelections, are expected to work in these constituencies with much enthusiasm, according to sources.

On an average, each of these constituencies have 30,000-35,000 SC voters. While Channapatna is dominated by SC (right) voters, Sandur and Shiggaon have a large number of SC (left) voters.

E Annapoorna of Congress, which won Sandur in the last Assembly elections, seems to have an edge over candidates of other parties. But in Shiggaon and Channapatna, where BJP and JDS won, respectively, in the last Assembly elections, Congress candidates may give them a tough fight with the backing of voters from the SC (left) community, according to a leader from the community.

"We pressured the CM that if the community has to back Congress in the coming bypolls, his cabinet must take the decision on internal reservation and he just did it," a leader from SC (left) community told TNIE.

"Madigas stand by Siddaramaiah who helped improve their economic status. We are with him. This will be made known in the coming byelections. Everyone in our community will work for the victory of Congress candidates in the three constituencies," said Anjaneya.

"It was a victory for the internal reservation struggle. This was made possible by Siddaramaiah," said Thimmapur.

"The Madiga community has been fighting for internal reservation for decades. Now, the Supreme Court has also given its verdict. We have to implement it. There are 101 Scheduled Castes. It is important to take everyone into confidence. Although it is not possible to keep everyone happy, a decision has to be taken to satisfy 90% of these communities. Our government will do this," Siddaramaiah said.

At a meeting of Dalit MLAs held at Home Minister Dr Parameshwara's residence, which was coordinated by Malavalli MLA PM Narendra Swamy and MLC HP Sudham Das, a consensus was arrived at that everyone is in favor of internal reservation.

Shivakumar clarified that his government is committed to implementing the internal quota as Congress had promised these communities at a convention held in Chitradurga ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections. "We had also included it in our party's election manifesto," he said.

CM clarifies

Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah on Tuesday clarified that except for the notifications that have already been issued, no new government recruitment notification will be released until the commission submits its report within three months.

"Without compromising on the issue of social justice, we took every community under the SC category into confidence and took the decision. Social justice can't be ensured without such a decision," Siddaramaiah said.

But Leader of Opposition in the Assembly R Ashoka said it was the previous BJP government led by CM Basavaraj Bommai which took the decision to classify SC reservation.

6 BJP Channapatna corporators join Cong

IN a setback of sorts for NDA candidate Nikhil Kumaraswamy, in the Channapatna bypoll, six BJP corporators of the city municipal council are backing Congress candidate CP Yogeshwara. DCM DK Shivakumar's younger brother and former Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh welcomed Chandru, Mangalamma, Manohar, Kamala, Jayamala, and Kasturi to the Congress fold. Out of seven BJP members, six have defected to the Grand Old Party, boosting the morale of Yogeshwara, who had jumped ship to the Congress, after resigning as BJP MLC last week. There were 31 corporators, of whom, 16 had represented JDS and a couple of months ago, 13 had joined the Congress. Meanwhile, Suresh also ensured that BMICPA president Raghunandan Ramanna stood with Yogeshwara by brokering peace between the two.

'Who is the migrant, Priyanka or Nikhil?

WITH campaigning gaining momemtum in Channapatna Assembly constituency where a bypoll is due on November 13, the slugfest between Congress and NDA leaders has peaked. Kunigal Congress MLA Dr Ranganath, campaigning for Congress candidate CP Yogeshwara, exhorted voters to defeat Nikhil Kumaraswamy as he is a migrant and outsider to the constituency. Hitting back, Union minister HD Kumaraswamy asked whether Priyanka Gandhi, who is contesting the LS bypoll from Wayanad, is not a migrant. "I become soil in the soil of Ketuganahalli in Ramanagara, though I was born in Hassan and spent my entire life there. Can Priyanka Gandhi, who is an Italian's daughter born in Uttar Pradesh, contest from Wayanad? I am a Kannadiga, can I become an immigrant?" he questioned. Meanwhile, Yogeshwara defended his defection to the Congress, claiming that he did it for the welfare of the people of Channapatna.

Cong ministers to hit campaign trail

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @Ballari

THE high command of the state Congress on Tuesday set up a publicity committee for the Sandur bypoll, in which sitting ministers, 25-30 MLAs, MPs, former ministers, MLCs, and KPCC working committee members were appointed for running the campaigns across various parts of the Sandur Assembly constituency.

The ECI has announced that the bypolls for Sandur, as well as for Channapatna and Shiggaon, will be held on November 13. While the Sandur ST Reserved constituency is known to be a stronghold of the Congress, the BJP is also leaving no stone unturned to secure victory.

Meanwhile, KPCC president and DCM DK Shivakumar released the names of over 70 people who will oversee the campaign trail for the Sandur bypoll. Labour Minister Santosh Lad, who steered a campaign in Sandur on Tuesday, claimed that while the BJP dreams of winning Sandur and the two other constituencies, the fact remains that the Congress will prevail.

Besides Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, cabinet ministers will join the election campaign for Sandur party candidate E Annapoorna Tukaram. Rajya Sabha member Naseer Hussain will also participate in the campaign soon. Other ministers who are part of the publicity committee include Priyank Kharge, KH Muniyappa, Sharan Prakash Patil, Rahim Khan, Shivaraj Tangadagi, NS Boseraju, BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan, KJ George, and D Sudhakar.

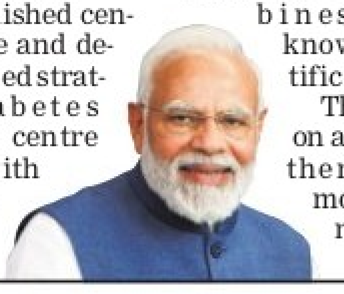
PM launches Centre of Excellence in Ayurveda for diabetes & metabolic disorders at IISc

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN a move to enhance the integration of traditional healing systems with modern medicine, Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated virtually the Centre of Excellence (CoE) in Ayurveda for Diabetes and Metabolic Disorders at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) on Tuesday.

PM Modi highlighted the significance of this initiative, saying, "Our commitment to advancing healthcare solutions includes harnessing the potential of Ayurveda. By bridging traditional wisdom with modern scientific research, we can offer effective and sustainable healthcare options for chronic conditions like diabetes."

The initiative aligns with the 9th National Ayurveda Day, celebrated under the theme 'Ayurveda Innovations for Global Health', emphasising the importance of Ayurveda in contemporary healthcare.



The newly established centre aims to explore and develop Ayurveda-based strategies for diabetes management. The centre will collaborate with institutions such as the Central Ayurveda Research Institute (CARI) and Samatvam - Science and Research for Human Welfare Trust, to facilitate interdisciplinary research that combines traditional knowledge with scientific rigour.

The centre will focus on areas such as herbal therapies, lifestyle modifications, and natural dietary approaches to improve health outcomes for diabetes patients. This initiative not only aims to enhance the quality of life for those affected by metabolic disorders but also seeks to establish Ayurveda as a viable alternative or complementary approach to conventional medical practices.

A randomised active comparator-controlled clinical trial will be conducted as part of this CoE, featuring a longitudinal study over two years to evaluate the efficacy of two new Ayurvedic formulations - Mustadi Ghana Vati and Varadi Ghana Vati, in treating prediabetes and Type 2 diabetes.

In addition to the clinical trials, systematic in vitro studies (using cell lines and animal models) and in vivo studies (collecting blood samples from participants) will be conducted to explore the cellular and molecular mechanisms of protein glycation and oxidation through mass spectrometry, as well as the role of different types of adipose tissues (brown, white, beige) and their therapeutic responses. Furthermore, the chemical analysis will include fingerprinting of the Ayurvedic formulations and identification of potential active molecules or species.

hurt in blast during Kerala temple fireworks display

Smoke seen at Anjoottambalam Veerarkavu temple in Nileshwar, Kasaragod, following the blast | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kasaragod

REVELRY gave way to horror on Tuesday after an explosion during a fireworks display at a temple in Kerala's Kasaragod district left 102 people injured, seven of them critically. The injured have been admitted in Kasaragod, Kannur, Kozhikode and Mangaluru hospitals.

Sources said the firecrackers had been kept near the temple compound. The Nileshwar police booked eight persons, including seven temple committee members. Three have been arrested. District Police Chief Shilpa D said permission had not been obtained for bursting the crackers. "There were no safety measures, including fire extinguishers," she said.

The incident occurred around midnight during the 'Theyyam Mahotsavam' at the Anjoottambalam Veerarkavu temple in Nileshwar. A large number of people from across the district had turned up for the event, as it was the first theyyam performance to be held this year in a temple in the north Malabar region.

During the fireworks display, sparks flew into the storage room nearby where more firecrackers were kept, resulting in the explosion.

"It was around midnight. The theyyam performance was on, and a huge crowd, including women and children, had come to the temple to witness it. Many people were standing near the storage shed for a better view. Crackers were being burst at the time," said Gopi, 59, an eyewitness. Suddenly, sparks from the fireworks fell into the shed where firecrackers for the day's programme were kept, he said. "There was a loud sound. Many people got trapped inside the shed as a wall behind them prevented their escape," Gopi said.

Two days' celebrations had been planned for the 'mahotsavam'. Following the mishap, all the celebrations were cancelled.

Court junks plea, Divya held for abetting ADM's suicide

Police take PP Divya for medical examination after recording her arrest on Tuesday | EXPRESS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Kannur

HOURS after the Thalassery Principal Sessions Judge denied her anticipatory bail, former Kannur district panchayat president P P Divya was arrested on Tuesday in connection with the death of additional district magistrate (ADM) Naveen Babu.

Divya, the lone accused in abetment of suicide case, was produced before the Judicial First Class Magistrate, Taliparamba, and sent to 14-day judicial custody. She was lodged at the Women's Prison in Pallikkunnu. Divya will move the Thalassery court for bail on Wednesday. Babu's wife Manjusha said she will file a petition against the bail plea.

The court's remarks while dismissing Divya's plea came as a huge blow to her attempts to portray herself as a "crusader against corruption." Judge K T Nizar Ahammed said Divya's "uninvited" presence and her speech at the ADM's farewell function on October 14 were a 'premeditated act' intended to humiliate Babu. The court also found no evidence to prove the corruption charges against the ADM, which had been the main content of her speech.

The court accepted the prosecution argument that if given bail there is every chance of Divya influencing the witnesses using her political clout.

The order also contained the statement of District Collector Arun K Vijayan, who said he had dissuaded Divya from making comments against the ADM at the function.

Meanwhile, dramatic scenes unfolded in the morning after Divya's plea was rejected. It was rumoured that she would move the Kerala High Court against the dismissal. And, while the police claimed Divya was arrested from Kannapuram, opposition parties alleged she surrendered before the police.

HC revives case against TN CM & kin, orders daily hearing

Where law has been deliberately ambushed and streams of justice are polluted, this court considers it a duty to interfere

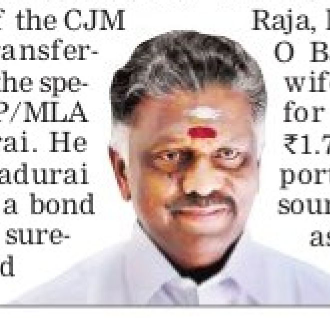
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

THE Madras High Court on Tuesday revived the 2006 disproportionate assets case against former Chief Minister O Panneerselvam and his family members by setting aside the trial court order that allowed the prosecution to withdraw the case and discharge them.

Setting aside the 2012 order of the Chief Judicial Magistrate (CJM) of Sivaganga permitting the prosecution to withdraw the case, Justice N Anand Venkatesh restored the case to the file of the CJM and ordered transferring the case to the special court for MP/MLA cases in Madurai. He directed the Madurai court to obtain a bond with or without sureties from OPS and his family members, except OPS's wife Vijayalakshmi and brother Balamurugan (since deceased) as the charges against them were abated, on their appearance before the court.

Since the case was registered in 2006, the judge directed the Madurai court to hold expeditious trial on a day-to-day basis and dispose it on or before June 31, 2025, and directed filing of a compliance report to the Registrar General (RG) of the court.

The judge had taken suo motu revision of the order discharging OPS, his wife, son Ravindranathkumar, brother O Raja, his wife Sasikalavathi, O Balamurugan and his wife Latha Maheshwari for allegedly amassing ₹1.77-crore assets disproportionate to his income sources during his tenure as minister and CM between 2001-06.



Shilpa Shetty clip in Lingaraj shrine: Niti supervisor served notice

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhubaneswar

BOLLYWOOD actor and fitness trainer Shilpa Shetty has found herself at the centre of a controversy over violation of the 'no photography' norm in Lingaraj temple here.

A show cause notice has been served to niti supervisor of Lingaraj temple Raj Kishore Mohapatra after a photograph and video of Shetty interacting with him inside the shrine went viral on Tuesday.

Shetty was in Bhubaneswar on Monday for inauguration of a jewellery store. In the evening, she offered prayers at Lingaraj temple. The 11th century shrine has a 'no phone, no camera' policy in place which prohibits all visitors from carrying phones or cameras on the premises and into the sanctum sanctorum.

However, a photograph of the actress and video of her and Mohapatra interacting with each other over the Lingaraj temple heritage within the shrine premises surfaced on social media platforms. Mohapatra was seen explaining the details of the shrine and its various rituals to Shetty.

The photograph and video sparked criticism as people alleged a lack of policing and accused the servitors of showing favouritism towards VIPs by allowing them to violate the temple rules. Amid a widespread backlash, the Lingaraj temple administration issued a show cause notice to Mohapatra. Additional district magistrate RN Mohanty said Mohapatra has been asked to file his reply to the show cause within seven days. Sources said there are clear demarcations on till what point cameras are allowed in the shrine. MLA Babu Singh also criticised the servitors for allowing Shetty's visit to be recorded. Meanwhile, the temple servitors shifted the blame on to the police deployed at the temple, accusing them of allowing VIPs to bring mobile phones into the shrine, including the sanctum sanctorum.

Jagan's mom sides with Sharmila on property issue

S GURU SRIKANTH @ Vijayawada

IN a major setback to YSRC chief YS Jagan Mohan Reddy, his mother YS Vijayamma on Tuesday strongly supported her daughter -- APCC chief YS Sharmila Reddy -- in the claim over family properties.

In a three-page open letter, Vijayamma said the family property was never divided when her husband and former Chief Minister YS Rajasekhara Reddy was alive and some of them were only put in the name of her two children - Jagan and Sharmila.

She took a serious exception to YV Subba Reddy and V Vijaya Sai Reddy spewing lies and distorting facts about the family properties, particularly regarding Sharmila's share of assets.

"When YSR was alive, he never divided the property and only named some in the name of the children," she said in the letter and wondered why those two people (Subba Reddy and Vijaya Sai Reddy) were forgetting what they did had tarnished the name of YSR and his family.

Vijayamma pointed out that Subba Reddy as a relative had signed the MoU her children had entered into about the property distribution in 2019. "They entered into a MoU as she (Sharmila) has the right. It was written officially. The assets that are being given to Sharmila as per the MoU are not given by Jagan as a gift. It is Jagan's responsibility," she said and recalled that Jagan had even promised his father that he would take care of his sister.

She also mentioned that YSR, who treated his two children equally wanted the property to be equally shared among their four grandchildren.

Asserting that to her, both children are equal, she said Jagan, as a son took the responsibility of improving the business and Sharmila was never involved in the business. Further elaborating, she said for 10 years after the demise of YSR, all were living together. In 2019, two months after Jagan became Chief Minister, during a visit to Israel, he proposed the division of assets, stating that as his and Sharmila's children were growing up and no one is certain as what may happen in future.

Truck owner ending life over Rs 8L fine sparks outrage

BENGALURU: The death of truck owner Nagesh by suicide, in Ramanagara on Monday, after reportedly being issued a fine of Rs 8 lakh, is rapidly escalating into a challenge for the government. The Karnataka Quarry Association, Contractors' Association, and State Lorry Owners' Association are warning of protests if the issue is not addressed urgently. Crusher Association president Ravindra Shetty Bajagoli told TNIE, "The government must immediately intervene to prevent undue pressure and reduce heavy fines. If this matter is not resolved, we will consider a statewide agitation." Shetty emphasized the need for proactive measures to prevent further hardships for workers and business owners in this sector. At a condolence meeting in Ramanagara, members of the Federation of Karnataka Quarry and Stone Crushers' Association paid their respects to Nagesh, who they say faced enormous challenges due to recent policies. Prominent district crusher owners voiced their frustrations over the government's payment policies. Industry representatives highlighted the need to tweak policies to avoid creating financial and emotional hardships. They called for immediate relief measures for Nagesh's family, and appealed for Rs 1 crore in financial assistance.

Lifestyle changes can reduce stroke risk in 90% cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

IN India, heart strokes affect 145 individuals, in every 1 lakh population each year with a stroke every 20 seconds. Without treatment, 30% of these individuals unfortunately succumb and 30% are left with severe deficits. Only 1% of these patients receive the standard of care, said Dr Sunil V Furtado, HOD and Senior Consultant at the Department of Neurosurgery, Ramaiah Institute of Neurosciences, Ramaiah Memorial Hospital.

He highlighted the lack of awareness of symptoms of stroke among the general population, inadequate infrastructure in primary hospitals, and non-referral of such cases to comprehensive stroke treatment centres.

"The World Stroke Association uses a theme every year to create awareness. This year the World Stroke Campaign will leverage the emotional power of sports and physical activity to raise awareness about stroke and encourage action on prevention and rehabilitation," said Dr Sunil, adding that strokes can occur at any time and location. Acute stroke is a highly treatable neuro-emergency.

Factors like heart disease, diabetes, hypertension, high cholesterol, smoking, alcohol consumption, and a sedentary lifestyle increase the chances of strokes. Active physical activity, cessation of smoking, and moderation in alcohol consumption can reduce the risk of stroke in 90% of cases, he said.

Medicover Hospital Whitefield observed World Stroke Day on October 29 by launching an extensive Stroke Awareness Programme, uniting healthcare professionals, survivors, families, and the community in the critical fight against stroke.

Consultant Neurologist Dr Poonam C Awatare said, "With strokes affecting both the young and old, lifestyle adjustments and routine screenings become essential, especially for high-risk individuals. Prevention remains the most potent line of defense."

Mining tourism the new theme, gets Karnataka cabinet nod

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE state government is looking at making the most of abandoned mining areas and sites, by developing and promoting them as tourist destinations as part of 'mining tourism'.

Taking a leaf from South Africa, which has popularised mining tourism, the state tourism department has listed it as one of the 25 themes in the new 2024-29 tourism policy which was approved by the cabinet on Monday. The new policy aims at attracting private investment of Rs 1,300 crore over the next five years. The policy also focuses on giving special incentives, ranging from 15-25 per cent, to those investing Rs 50 lakh to Rs 10 crore in various sectors.

The policy highlighted a reduction in motor vehicle tax for commercial (yellow board) vehicles of travel agents and tour operators, with zero tax on the first 200 caravan tourism trips in the state. These have also got approval of the state transport department.

A senior tourism official said mining tourism is popular in many countries, with abandoned gold mines being shown to people. "Here we have Kolar Gold Fields to start with, but it is not a state government owned space. The new tourism policy has been planned keeping in mind the Central government's initiatives, including mining tourism. Abandoned sites in Ballari and other areas can be utilised," the official said.

In the policy document, the department stated that Karnataka is rich in mineral resources and has many areas where mining was done. With the help of the Mines and Geology department, Karnataka Mining Environment Restoration Corporation and other agencies, geo-heritage sites and geo-relics with tourism potential will be identified and developed. Museums can be set up with interactive exhibits. Tourism Secretary Salma Fahim told TNIE that this is the first time mining tourism has been listed. The sector needs a lot of investment from government and private players.

In the new policy, the tourism department is looking at tapping the tourism potential of coastal and wedding tourism, along the lines of Goa and Rajathan respectively. "Nandi Hills, hill stations, forts and historical places in Karnataka have the potential to be used for wedding tourism," said a tourism department official.

Water summit launched by K'taka govt

ENS @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to address critical water and sanitation challenges in rural Karnataka, the state government introduced a water and sanitation summit, titled "Harnessing Innovation for a Water Secure Future" on Tuesday.

Organised by the ITBT department and the Department of RDPR, the summit united industry experts and technology innovators to discuss sustainable solutions Emphasising the critical intersection of water, sanitation, and climate, Revenue Minister Krishna Byre Gowda described the event as a timely initiative aimed at addressing the pressing challenges of water scarcity and sanitation. He noted the drastic change from drought conditions in July to severe flooding shortly after in the state, highlighting the urgency of adaptive measures in water management.

PG doctors in TN evade mandatory govt duty

THINAKARAN RAJAMANI @ Tenkasi

EVEN as scores of students in Tamil Nadu fight the discernible exclusiveness of NEET, hundreds of others who were fortunate enough to reap education benefits and take the Hippocratic Oath continue to abscond from government service without any fear of action.

Under the Right to Information Act, TNIE obtained a list of 144 absconding doctors from 21 public health institutions under the Directorate of Medical Education and Research (DME&R) in the last four years. Most institutions under the Directorate of Medical and Rural Health Services (DMS) refused even to provide that information. In health institutions under the DME&R alone, there are 316 absconding doctors, said health secretary Supriya Sahu.

Activists said strong action must be taken against hundreds of such PG doctors, who left government service to join the private sector after availing of 50% reservation in PG seats, 30% incentive marks in PG NEET, and three years of education leave with a hefty government salary. These doctors had signed a security bond with the state, promising to remain in government service until retirement, which they have now violated. Though action must have been initiated within weeks of them absenting themselves from work, a few of them have been served with show-cause notices only now, they said.

INFRA, PLANNING NEEDED FOR INDIAN AVIATION TO SOAR

INDIGO Airlines’ big net loss of ₹987 crore in the June-September quarter has taken India Inc by surprise. India’s largest airline, which has been profitable in the last seven quarters, was expected to turn in a modest profit in view of its near-monopoly, stable aviation fuel prices and rising passenger numbers. In their conversations with investors, IndiGo officials highlighted local factors like the grounding of around 70 aircraft of a fleet of 350 due to issues with the Pratt and Whitney engines. This in turn has forced IndiGo to lease a large number of planes at a high cost. However, the plummeting bottomline draws attention to the serious challenges the aviation sector faces in the country.

Considering the rise in income levels and soaring air traffic, aviation should not be a troubled industry. Operational airports have doubled over the last decade to 157 in 2024. Domestic passenger traffic increased 13 percent in 2023-24 to 30.6 crore, while international traffic rose 22 percent to 7 crore. At the heart of the expansion is the regional connectivity scheme driven by refurbishing and expanding existing airstrips—known by the acronym UDAN for Ude Desh ka Aam Nagrik. Despite these positive factors, several national airlines—Deccan, Kingfisher, Jet and Go—have shut operations in recent years; SpiceJet is sputtering.

The fact is that the building of infrastructure has not kept apace the rising numbers of passengers and airplanes, creating a backend crisis. There is a lesson in the woes expressed by IndiGo CEO Pieter Ebers; he pointed to the high congestion at key airports like Delhi and Mumbai delaying take-offs and stymieing plans to increase flights. Mumbai has a single operational runaway that is way past saturation, while Delhi’s Terminal 1 was shut for long after its roof collapsed following a downpour. In contrast, when Kuala Lumpur International Airport was launched in 1993, it was planned to cater for 100 million passengers a year—a capacity it will reach only by 2030. The aviation industry is not just about increasing aircraft numbers to match increasing flyers. Among other things, it is about creating airport infrastructure; it is about training a sufficient number of pilots; and it is about keeping taxes like the one on aviation fuel affordable, so that airlines do not fold up.

DANA SCARE BLOWN UP BY IMD’S IMPRECISION

CYCLONE Dana certainly gave Odisha a scare, leaving about 36 lakh people affected and battering kharif crops over 2.71 lakh acres in five districts along its trail. Official records say there was no loss of life. For a perspective, cyclone Fani, which pummelled the state just over five years back, was stronger in intensity and bigger in its socio-economic cost. Over 1.65 crore people were hit by the May 2019 storm that had been categorised an ‘extremely severe cyclone’ and its damage was pegged at over ₹29,000 crore. For a state that has a painful history of natural calamities, thankfully, Dana was not the beast it was projected to be.

But it must be noted that any natural disaster needs effective management—and the Mohan Majhi government pulled out all the stops to minimise this cyclone’s impact. It evacuated over 8 lakh people to shelters before the storm and deployed all its resources. Ministers were sent to vulnerable districts to monitor the rescue, relief and restoration efforts, while MLAs and officers were asked to camp there and coordinate support. Majhi himself led from the front as he remained on watch 24x7 till the danger passed.

A calamity can test the efficacy of an administration. By that measure, the four-month-old BJP government was spot on after achieving its goal of ‘zero casualty’. However, it could be accused of over-preparedness, because there was hardly any need to cancel 200-odd trains three days in advance and shut down educational institutions in 14 districts when the storm was clearly headed to the north coastal districts. Much of it should be attributed to the forecast by the India Meteorological Department that led to panic. Precision in forecast helps in efficient disaster management, but the national weather office was clearly off the mark this time. Its advisories and forecast lacked clarity and was marked by a hesitation to pinpoint the areas to be affected by Dana. It seemed to be bound by the pressure of failure that reflected in its prediction of a longer-than-200-km landfall zone from Puri to Sagar Island. This led the state to stretch its mitigation apparatus. Weather forecasting can hardly be 100 percent accurate; but the IMD would do well to shed its orthodox mindset.

QUICK TAKE

INDIAN HAND IN THE U.S.

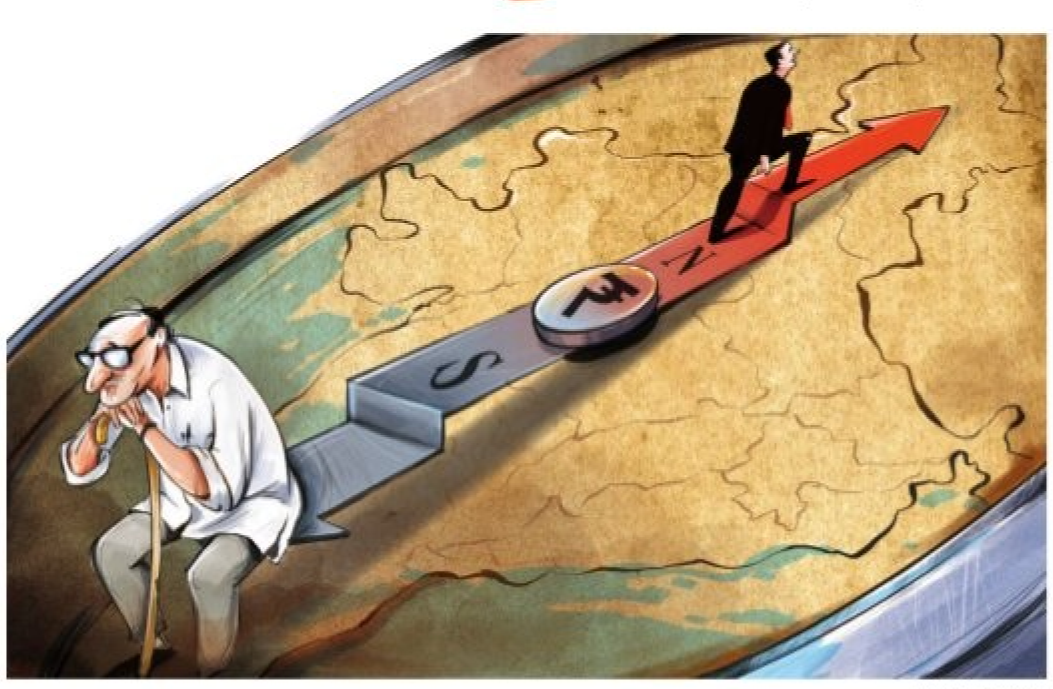
AT 5.2 million, Indians now form the second largest immigrant group in the US. This and their relative prosperity make them prime targets of politicos at election time. The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace’s recent poll of their voting intentions shows they are still firmly behind the Democrats. Though their liking for Donald Trump is higher than four years ago—driven mostly by American-born men of Indian origin—their view of other Republican leaders is dim. Abortion is the second-most salient issue after inflation. Whoever wins on November 5, the new administration would do well to heed the preferences of this group that’s increasingly powerful in both countries.

Ageing populations will significantly affect public finance in the South before the rest of the country. The effects of this transition must be plotted on the federal fiscal map

SHRINKONOMICS OF SOUTH NEEDS NATION’S FOCUS

M A OOMMEN

Former Chairman, Fourth State Finance Commission, Kerala, and Distinguished Fellow, Gulati Institute of Finance and Taxation, Thiruvananthapuram



MANDAR PARDIKAR

THE demographic transition of India from the Malthusian bogey of the 1960s to one of ‘shrinkonomics’—a term used by IMF’s Gee Hee Hong and Todd Schneider for an economy with more retirees and a falling labour-based tax pool—has passed variously through stages in different regions. Because the age structure of India’s population exhibits wide heterogeneity, the country’s demography is better understood in its regional settings.

In 2011, Kerala, Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana accounted for 20.7 percent of India’s population. This declined to 19.9 percent in 2021 and is projected to go down to 18.51 percent by 2041. In 2041, the population of the southern states is estimated to be lower than in 2031.

In contrast, the population of Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh increased from 41.59 percent in 2011 to 43.02 percent in 2021, and is expected to reach 45.58 percent of the country’s total in 2041.

The economic implications of this demographic disadvantage can be seen through four related lenses: demographic dividend, ageing, change in political equations, and the need to revisit fiscal federalism.

While India can boast of the rich demographic dividend of a high working-age population, the southern states—notably Kerala and Tamil Nadu—have to reflect on a new strategy of shrinkonomics. They are probably paying the price for policy choices of the past.

A window of opportunity opens up during a demographic transition when the working-age population (15-64 years) is higher compared to that of dependents. In a rough reckoning, when the proportion of youth and children falls below 30 percent and that of the elderly below 15 percent, a country reaps a high demographic dividend.

This is not manna from heaven. It is dependent on good governance and making the right policy choices on education, health, promotion of savings, microfinance for the poor and pensions, along with progressive socio-economics such as including more women in the labour force.

With the total fertility rate in China around 1.2 and that of Japan below 1.3, their coping strategies need a closer study in India’s federal context. The window of opportunity was open for Kerala for 26 years from 1991 through 2017 and for Tamil Nadu for 30 years (1994-2024); the other states are in the queue, as Abhishek and Kshamanidhi Adabar from the Central University of Gujarat have shown. Interestingly, for most northern states, the demographic dividend has unfolded post 2020.

The growing rural-to-urban and north-to-south migration in India need to be closely studied in this context. Hence, it is worth quoting somewhat elaborately from former World Bank demographer K C Zachariah on the losing the window of opportunity in Kerala and migration: “The increase in population during the 10-year period 1991-2001 was about 2.74 million and during 2001-2011, it was about 1.56 million. There was thus a significant decline in the increase in population between the decades. Had there been no ‘replacement migrants’ in the state, the population of Kerala according to the 2011 census would have been less than in 2001. Replacement migrants have offset what Kerala lost through emigration.”

The ‘replacement migrants’ of Kerala have swelled now to over 3 million (largely coming from northern states and West Bengal). They are getting absorbed into the socio-economic environment of the state. Cities such as Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Chennai are also attracting people from the North.

Undoubtedly, the economics of growing remittances by migrants to their homes in the North also needs close investigation by the Centre, probably by NITI Aayog. It would be needed for any effort to redefine India’s fiscal federalism.

Ageing is going to be the major disadvantage for all southern states, which will significantly affect their public finances. Computing an Ageing Index by dividing the population above 60 by that below 14—for the major states, using Census 2011 and estimates for years up to 2036 by the National Commission on Population—we see the changing scenario for the southern states.

The ageing index in 2011 for Andhra Pradesh was 25 percent, Karnataka 24.4 percent, Kerala 35.7 percent and Tamil Nadu 29.2 percent. They have undergone significant changes with expected values of 84.1 percent, 69.2 percent, 94.9 percent and 94.2 percent, respectively, in 2036. But the all-India number of 52 percent for 2036 stands on a secure pedestal. Rapid reductions in infant mortality coupled with higher life expectancy have helped this transformation.

The pension and social security liabilities (in Kerala, this includes health insurance, educational assistance for migrants’ children and pension for agricultural labourers through panchayats) are going to steadily increase. Again, the median age of Tamil Nadu and Kerala projected around 40 for 2036 can be compared only to that of China and Japan. The major challenge is to rebuild a meaningful care industry, including geriatric healthcare and a new employment strategy.

With the delimitation of constituencies after the proposed Census in 2025, states whose population has increased will gain at the expense of those where it has decreased. Assuming the size of population per parliamentary constituency and based on the projected population for 2031, the present seats of 129 for the five southern states may be reduced to 104, whereas those for the six populous northern states will increase from 199 to 240. The biggest gainer will be UP and the biggest loser Tamil Nadu. Mind you, these changes are only indicative.

The need to accommodate the growing disadvantages of the demographic transition into the fiscal federal map of India is loud and clear. Intergovernmental transfer arrangements have to be redrawn on a long-term basis, starting with the 16th Finance Commission.

A recent working paper from National Institute of Public Finance and Policy judiciously incorporating the elderly in the devolution formula showed the inequity of the 15th and earlier finance commissions’ criterions. The paper has calculated elderly population as a percentage of the working-age population for each state and demonstrated, using alternative scenarios, the inequity in the intergovernmental transfer system in our federal polity.

The demographic disadvantages arising out of the heterogeneity in the fiscal federal arrangements demand a new shrinkonomics for the southern states and a radical revision of India’s fiscal federal strategy.

STRIKING BALANCE IN THE TIME OF WAR

“Do not fear what has blown up. If you must, fear the unexploded.”

— Suheir Hammad, American poet born to Palestinian refugee parents

RANJAN TANDON

Senior markets specialist and author

A year of the Israel-Palestine conflict and persisting tensions have vitiated the semblance of regional peace for the near future. Relentless military engagements threaten to draw other nations into the vortex. Despite mounting pressure from the US to restrain Israeli assaults on nuclear installations and oil fields in Iran, Israel has often hinted at such strikes in a bid to cripple the energy sector.

Speculations are rife that this could prompt Iran to shut the strategic chokepoint of Strait of Hormuz, debilitating oil supplies from the Persian Gulf and proving to be a catalyst for Iranian attacks on neighbouring oil facilities. So, oil prices could spike despite the buffer of Saudi spare capacity and Latin American supply channels.

Such acts could also jeopardise Sino-Iranian relations as Beijing continues to navigate alliances with Moscow and Riyadh while seeking modus vivendi with Washington in a complex politico-economic scenario.

Being aware of China’s economic slowdown and consistent monthly decline in refinery runs, Iran is scouting for buyers besides Chinese state oil companies and ‘teapots’ (small independent refiners based mostly around Shandong province).

Having 10 percent of the world’s oil reserves and being home to an impressive automotive industry, the Islamic republic is desperate to revive its economy, emulating Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and the UAE.

Most of its oil is currently routed to China and paid for in renminbi. While such revenue is partially offset via import of Chinese equipment and technology, the balance constitutes Tehran’s external reserves with lesser-known banks in mainland China and Hong Kong, often considered conduits for money laundering and layering.

Iran also nurtures hopes of nuclear cooperation with the US for energy and scientific research, especially after a prisoner exchange and the promised release of oil funds in Qatar’s custody since 2023.

Meanwhile, Iranian people are losing patience. The regime needs to set right its record and relieve itself of international sanctions. Any aggression would be counterproductive as it would derail Iran’s hopes of reaping the benefits of globalisation.

For Israel, a prolonged conflict with Lebanon could impede its prosperity. A majority of Israelis disapprove of Benjamin Netanyahu’s handling of the Gaza crisis. The recent Iranian missile attacks around Tel Aviv prompted the US and Netanyahu’s critics to make efforts at containment. Israel struck at military targets near Tehran, raising fears that continued belligerence could amplify the chances of a more unified Shia Crescent. Such a narrative could compromise America’s West Asian policy.

AP

After the recent strikes in each other’s territories, continued belligerence between Israel and Iran would trouble oil prices. The effects would be felt as far as a slowing China and a buoyant US. Washington must see beyond Tel Aviv and revisit its commitment to global peace

Earlier this year, Riyadh hinted at a mutually-progressive, gradual rapprochement with Tel Aviv. In line with its Vision 2030 for economic diversification into tourism, entertainment, sports and defence production, Saudi Arabia seeks stability and security in the Arabian peninsula. Iran’s suspected orchestration of the 2019 attacks failed to preclude resumption of diplomatic relations between Tehran and Riyadh in 2023 on Beijing’s initiative. Sustained improvement in the two nations’ relations needs to go beyond mere good intentions.

Though political ideologies remain paramount, economic motives within OPEC revolve around oil. Aware of the negative implications of escalating hostilities, good counsel is expected within the fraternity.

The September 2019 attacks on Aramco refineries at Abqaiq and Khurais by Yemen-based groups shut down both facilities for a while and cut Saudi Arabia’s production by half. Brent crude prices jumped 15 percent to $69 a barrel on that weekend. The resumption of trading at the Intercontinental Exchange two days later shaved almost 6 percent off the initial rise within half an hour. The prices eventually retreated to pre-attack levels within a fortnight, thanks to OPEC’s coordination and weak global demand.

Such trading patterns within a narrow band have reappeared in the past few months. Brent briefly touched $81 in early October, but expended most of the gains to $73. The geopolitical risk premium could build afresh amid the prevailing volatility. A thin line separates apprehensions from reality—and therein lies the scope for markets to tango.

While responding to a toast by US President Richard Nixon at a White House dinner on September 25, 1969, the Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir had said: “There is idealism in this world. There is human brotherhood in this world. There is the great and powerful country, the US, which feels that the existence of Israel is important to it because it is important that all live and all exist, no matter how small, how troubled we are.”

Five decades later, the words continue to reflect a degree of expectation and responsibility resting with the US. The ‘shadow facilitation’ of the current conflict through American weapons evokes much scepticism over the Israel-US alliance. In the backdrop of a prolonged Ukraine-Russia war, Washington needs to revisit its commitment to global peace and democratic values, and see beyond Israel. A focus on collective interests of the region, which includes Palestine, would entail sincere efforts to defuse tensions.

The US needs to reflect on its own vulnerability, notwithstanding its strengthening oil production and imminent economic revival. A global conflagration and soaring oil prices would stoke inflation and negatively impact the US economy as the nation stays in election mode. After all, the oil majors seek prosperity at buoyant US bourses.

Creaky cricketers

Team redemption

There is no denying that India has lost the home Test series against New Zealand. But the likes of Virat Kohli and Rohit Sharma come good in the upcoming Down Under Test series, the perception towards them and the entire team would reverse totally. So let’s not dwell into the hosts’ rare loss.

Electronic waste

Ref: The terminator gene in our everyday products (Oct 28). Asking for a durable smartphone or laptop has become a laughing matter. While on one hand, there is concern about growing electronic waste, the usage of all these items beyond 4-5 years is rendered unviable on the other. There needs to be pressure on manufacturers to ensure the consumer has the option to continue using these items beyond a decade.

Phone dependence

Disruptive innovations are welcome in medicine, agriculture, engineering, law, and other fields, not daily-use electronics. This over-dependence on mobile phones is dangerous and it is better to strike a mid-ground between modern and old phones. As consumers, we must decide what we want, not marketing companies, as has been said.

The author has rightly exposed the greediness of manufacturers. Use-and-throw culture has been imported from western countries. In the name of development, we are forgetting our old way of owning a thing for life. The present market is more manufacturer-driven than consumer driven. This must be reversed.

PM slams Didi, Kejriwal over Ayushman

Says sorry to all seniors above 70 years in Bengal and Delhi for not implementing Centre's flagship health scheme

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

AIMING to expand India's healthcare services and infrastructure, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday launched a series of health-related projects worth ₹12,850 crore.

On the ninth Ayurveda Day and the birthday of Dhanvantari, considered the God of Medicine, Modi launched a series of key initiatives, which include the expansion of Ayushman Bharat health insurance coverage to all senior citizens aged 70 years and above, and the U-WIN portal that seeks to benefit pregnant women and infants by fully digitalising the vaccination process.

Extending the government's flagship health insurance scheme to all senior citizens aged 70 years and above, Modi slammed the Delhi and the West Bengal governments for not implementing the Ayushman Bharat insurance scheme out of "political interests."

He said he was pained that the elderly from these two states cannot avail of free treatment under the expanded programme. "I apologise to all the elderly aged above 70 years in Delhi and West Bengal that I cannot serve them. I would get to know about your pains and sufferings but I won't be able to help you," Modi said.

"The reason is that the governments in Delhi and West Bengal are not joining the scheme due to their political interests," he said. Being oppressive against the sick people of one's own state for political interests does not align with the idea of humanity, he added.

People aged above 70 years will get free treatment in hospitals and they will be given the 'Ayushman Vaya Vandana' card, said the prime minister, who had announced the expansion of insurance coverage to senior citizens aged 70 years and above in April 2024.

"I am able to serve the people of the country but the walls of political profession are preventing me from serving the elderly in Delhi and West Bengal," he said.

Modi, who launched development projects worth over ₹12,850 crore, said that during this year's general election, he had promised that people of 70 years and above would be brought under the Ayushman Bharat health insurance scheme. "This guarantee is being fulfilled today," he said. The extension has been made at a cost of ₹3,437 crore.

Ayushman Bharat Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana provides ₹5 lakh per family per year for secondary and tertiary care hospitalisation to 55 crore individuals corresponding to 12.34 crore families. With the expansion, 6 crore senior citizens and around 4.5 crore families will be covered.

The PM underscored that "a nation's progress is closely linked to the health of its citizens," outlining the government's commitment to healthcare through five key pillars: preventive healthcare, early disease detection, affordable treatment, increased doctor availability in smaller towns, and technological advancements in health services.

He reiterated his government's commitment to add 75,000 new MBBS and MD seats to meet rising demand.

He also inaugurated Phase-II of India's first All India Institute of Ayurveda in New Delhi, Central Drugs Testing Laboratory in Odisha; three government Medical Colleges in Madhya Pradesh; five projects under the PLI Scheme for medical devices and drugs; four Centers of Excellence of AYUSH; and many projects at various AIIMS; and inaugurated ESIC hospital in Indore.

NDA-III committed to giving jobs to maximum number of youth, says PM

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday asserted that the NDA-III government is committed to providing employment to maximum number of youths. He said a system was being worked at to build opportunities for every youth and explore their talents and skills to enable them to fulfill their aspirations.

Modi virtually distributed appointment letters for government jobs to over 51,000 people at Rozgar Mela, organised simultaneously at 40 locations. He said his government initiatives, with the support of new technologies in almost all sectors such as space and semiconductors, are creating fresh job opportunities.

In his virtual address, the PM criticised previous non-BJP or NDA governments for their lack of policy and intent, which he argued led to India falling behind in emerging sectors, particularly modern technologies. He condemned reliance on outdated technologies that were often imported into the country during previous governments. "A mindset existed then that believed modern technologies could not develop in our country. Such a mindset has done a lot of harm to the country's progress," he said. The absence of industries generating employment had made job creation challenging.

"We started working in a planned way to rid the country of the old mindset of previous governments," he said, highlighting that his administration's policies and decisions have had a direct impact on employment in infrastructure projects, including expressways, highways, ports, rail networks, and airports.

MHA alert on illegal payment gateways run from overseas

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

INDIAN Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (I4C) under the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has issued a high-level alert against transnational organised cybercriminals using illegal payment gateways for money laundering, officials said on Tuesday.

The warnings from the I4C came following nationwide raids by Gujarat and Andhra Pradesh police, which uncovered illicit gateways created using mule bank accounts.

The officials said the recent raids revealed that transnational criminals have created illegal digital payment gateways using mule or rented accounts to facilitate money laundering as a service and enable the laundering of proceeds from various cybercrimes.

According to information received from state police agencies and analysis by I4C wing, current and saving accounts are scouted through social media (majorly from Telegram and Facebook). These accounts belong to shell companies and enterprises or individuals, the MHA said in a statement.

"These mule accounts are controlled remotely from overseas. An illegal payment gateway is created using these mule accounts that are given to criminal syndicates for accepting deposits on illegal platforms like fake investment scam sites, offshore betting and gambling websites and fake stock trading platforms," it said.

"Funds are immediately layered to another account as soon as the crime proceeds are received. Bulk payout facilities provided by banks are misused for the same. Some of the payment gateways identified during operation are PeacePay, RTX Pay, PoccoPay, RPPay etc. These gateways are learned to be providing money laundering as a service and are operated by foreign nationals," the statement said.

The MHA through the I4C has advised people not to sell or rent their bank accounts, company registration certificates and Udhyam Aadhaar registration certificates to anyone.

"Illicit funds deposited in such bank accounts can lead to legal consequences, including arrest. Banks may deploy checks to identify misuse of bank accounts that are used for setting up Illegal payment gateways. The citizens must immediately report any cybercrime on helpline number 1930 or www.cybercrime.gov.in and follow 'CyberDost' channels/accounts on social media," the MHA noted.

The MHA has set up an inter-ministerial committee of various law enforcement and intelligence agencies to tackle the recent spurt in transnational organised cybercrimes. The panel is headed by special secretary (internal security) in MHA.

Mule bank accounts

According to officials, recent raids have revealed that transnational criminals have created illegal digital payment gateways using mule or rented accounts to facilitate money laundering as a service and enable the laundering of proceeds from various cybercrimes. These mule bank accounts are controlled remotely from overseas, they said.

Nod to 19 innovative projects worth ₹2K cr

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DEFENCE Minister Rajanth Singh on Tuesday said India is increasingly achieving self-reliance in its defence sector, highlighting initiatives that bolster indigenous defence technologies and operational efficiency within the armed forces.

Singh made the remarks while inaugurating the third edition of the Acing Development of Innovative Technologies with iDEX (ADITI 3.0) challenge and the 13th Defence India Start-up Challenges (DISC 13) during the 'Swavlamban' seminar hosted by the Naval Innovation and Indigenisation Organisation at Bharat Mandapam in New Delhi.

He said that in the last two sessions of 'Swavlamban' "Indian Navy has received over 2,000 proposals from Indian industries under the SPRINT challenges, which were unveiled during Swavlamban 1.0 in July 2022."

Furthermore, 'Swavlamban' has fostered collaboration with 213 MSMEs and start-ups under iDEX, resulting in acceptance of necessity (go-ahead) of over ₹2,000 crore in 19 cases.

Singh said that these proposals have been converted into 155 challenges, which will help in completing 171 contracts, with contracts worth ₹784 crore already completed.

SPRINT stands for Supporting Pole-Vaulting in R&D through iDEX, Naval Innovation and Indigenisation Organisation and Technology Development Acceleration Cell.

The ADITI 3.0 features a challenge from the Indian Navy to design a High-Power Microwave Weapon System. The DISC 13 presents seven challenges — three from Indian Army and two each from Indian Navy and Indian Air Force — in the domains of Artificial Intelligence, military communication and autonomous bots, among others.

The Defence Minister said that the changes brought about in the last few years have created an innovative culture in India, keeping national security in mind. "Today we also have a concrete ecosystem, and we are moving rapidly towards self-reliance," he said. He described the Indian Navy as an innovative Navy, commending its efforts towards achieving self-reliance.

Acknowledging the vital contribution of both public and private sectors in realising the vision of 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat', Singh reaffirmed the government's commitment to march ahead on the road to progress by taking all the stakeholders together. "Our public sector was already involved in the defence sector. But, when we came to power, we realised that a bird cannot fly with one wing, and there is a need to strengthen the other wing as well. We are making efforts to increase the participation of the private sector in the defence industrial ecosystem," he said.

Speaking on the occasion, Chief of the Naval Staff Admiral Dinesh K Tripathi reiterated the Indian Navy's commitment to safeguard national maritime interests, adding that to facilitate this journey, a resolve has been made to become a "fully Aatmanirbhar force" by 2047.

The minister mentioned that through collaborative efforts of Defence Innovation Organisation (DIO) and NIIO, 173 challenges presented to the industry by the Navy, including all the 75 challenges launched by the Prime Minister as part of 'Azadi ka Amrit Mahostsav', have been converted into pragmatic solutions and positive outcomes.

DRUG SYNDICATE WITH MEXICAN LINKS BUSTED

UJWAL JALALI @ New Delhi

THE Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) and the Special Cell of Delhi Police, in a joint operation, on Tuesday dismantled a meth manufacturing lab being run clandestinely in Uttar Pradesh's Noida and arrested four persons, including a former warden of Tihar Jail, a Delhi-based businessman and a Mumbai-based chemist.

The crackdown has revealed scintillating details of the syndicate, such as the lab's links with notorious Mexican drug cartel, Cartel De Jalisco Nueva Generacion (CJNG). The meth manufactured at the Noida lab was tested by a member of the Mexican cartel in Delhi.

CJNG is considered one of the most dangerous criminal networks in Mexico and the second-most powerful after the Sinaloa Cartel. It is heavily militarised, has its own 'Special Operation Group' that travels in armoured vehicles. Cannibalism of a victim is one of the ways the cartel trains its new recruits.

Acting on a tip-off, the sleuths on October 25 raided the factory in Kasna Industrial Area of Noida. "We found about 95 kg of methamphetamine in solid and liquid forms," Deputy Director General (NCB) Gyaneshwar Singh said.

The value of seized drugs is estimated to be around ₹100 crore. Preliminary probe revealed that the Delhi-based businessman, who was found inside the factory at the time of the raid along with the former Tihar Jail warden, were instrumental in setting up of the illegal factory, procuring chemicals required to produce meth and importing the machinery.

Delhi Waqf Board report sparks uproar at JPC meet

NEW DELHI: The Joint Parliamentary Committee meeting on the Waqf (Amendment) Bill witnessed tense moments for the second consecutive day after Delhi Waqf Board supported the Bill 2024 on Tuesday. Delhi Waqf Board administrator IAS Ashwini Kumar supported the Bill, while the Opposition called his stand "illegal". The Opposition MPs argued that according to the law, non-Muslims should not be on Waqf boards and the Delhi Waqf Board administrator is not a Muslim. However, BJP MPs blunted the argument saying that the administrator was appointed while Arvind Kejriwal was CM.

EC rejects Cong charges of Haryana poll irregularities, says 'devoid of facts'

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

STRONGLY refuting the Congress' charges of irregularities in the recently concluded Haryana Assembly polls, the Election Commission of India (EC) on Tuesday termed them "baseless and devoid of facts".

Responding to a slew of representations by the Congress levelling charges of 'irregularities', the EC, in a letter to Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, asserted that each stage of the electoral process was meticulously conducted under the observation of his party's candidates or their agents.

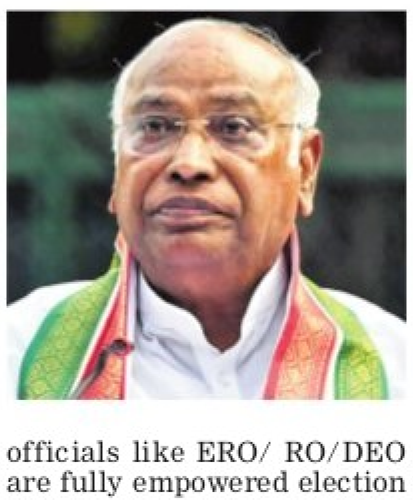
"The commission categorically rejects all baseless allegations and apprehensions conveyed by the INC regarding all aspects of the electoral process in the recently concluded election to the Haryana assembly," the EC statement said.

The poll panel went on to add that it "normally refrains from responding to grievances relating to constituency specific decentralised electoral processes, whether in case of electoral roll or candidates or deployment of man and material or conduct of poll or counting, as officials like ERO/ RO/DEO are fully empowered election authorities."

The EC, however, contended that it was duty bound to protect and defend "the integrity of the core design of this statutory decentralised scheme, that is being sought to be eroded or duplicated by 'generic' petitions/grievances setting out false narratives without any evidence whatsoever," which are being raised in proximity to polling or counting day and these have serious potential to fuel the surcharged environment.

The poll panel also said that raising such complaints can cause issues in the country. "It is needless to remind that such frivolous and unfounded doubts have the potential of creating turbulence when crucial steps like polling and counting are in live play, a time when both public and political parties' anxiousness is peaking," it noted.

Noting that the approach of the Congress "carrying baseless allegations" was publicly "disconcerting", the EC said that it is "compelled to note that with no evidence whatsoever of any statutory electoral step being compromised and candidate's consent to proceed to each next stage being on record; the INC has once again raised the smoke of a 'generic' doubt about the credibility of an entire electoral outcome exactly in similar manner as it has done in recent past".



Doubts unfounded: EC

The poll panel also said that raising such complaints can cause issues in the country. "It is needless to remind that such frivolous and unfounded doubts have the potential of creating turbulence when crucial steps like polling and counting are in live play, a time when both public and political parties' anxiousness is peaking," the poll body said.

HC judges must adhere to jurisdiction assigned by Chief Justice: Top court

SUCHITRA K MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court recently reaffirmed the High Court Chief Justice's authority to assign cases to the High Court judges and emphasized the need for the judges to operate within their jurisdiction.

A two-judge bench of Justices Dipankar Datta and Prashant Kumar Mishra said that the High Court judges cannot convert nomenclature of the petitions before them without the Chief Justice's approval if the converted petition does not fall within their assigned jurisdiction.

The court made the observation in a case where the Allahabad High Court had dismissed a writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to quash a FIR in a criminal case.

Notably, the writ petition was dismissed by the High Court as infructuous since a chargesheet had been filed and a trial court had taken cognisance of the charges by the time the petition was taken up for hearing.

The petitioners' counsel argued that the HC could have moulded the relief and converted the petition to one under Article 227 (supervisory jurisdiction of High Court over all courts in an area) to hear the matter. The accused challenged this decision before the Supreme Court. Their counsel, senior advocate S Nagamuthu, argued that the HC still had the discretion to quash the FIR.

- Heavyweights rope in family members to protect legacy

Poll time and it's all in the family for J'khand parties

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

MANY political stalwarts in Jharkhand have roped in their wives, daughters and daughters-in-law to save their ground. There are different reasons for roping in women on the seats earlier represented by others for years. Besides, there is also the fear of turf loss.

For the first time, two daughters-in-law of Jharkhand's biggest political family, the Sorens, are busy building and protecting their political base. Then, there is the question of political legacy in the case of RJD minister Satyanand Bhokta, former chief minister Raghuvar Das and former MLA Samaresh Singh.

The first such prominent face is Purnima Das Sahu, the daughter-in-law of Odisha Governor Raghubar Das. She is contesting from Jamshedpur East. Raghubar Das won the seat from 1995 to 2014, becoming the chief minister. Das was defeated by former minister and BJP rebel Saryu Roy in 2019, following which he was made Odisha governor. However, the BJP expressed confidence in his daughter-in-law Purnima, who is contesting against former MP Ajay Kumar.

Another such candidate is RJD's Chatra candidate Rashmi Prakash, the daughter-in-law of minister Satyanand Bhokta. The seat is reserved for Scheduled Caste, but Bhoktas have now been included in Scheduled Tribe, he would not be able to contest from the seat anymore.

In order to save his political ground, Bhokta married his son off to a Scheduled Tribe girl, Rashmi Prakash, and managed a representation for her from the seat. Rashmi Prakash is now contesting against LJP candidate Janardan Paswan. Another name is Deepika Pandey Singh, who is the daughter-in-law of former minister in united Bihar, Awadh Bihari Singh. Singh won the election for the first time in 2019 on the Congress ticket, and is fielded again this time against BJP's Ashok Bhagat.

Meera Munda, wife of former Union Minister Ajun Munda, has been fielded by the BJP from Potka Assembly seat. Her chance came as Munda was reluctant to contest this time and wanted his wife to replace him on traditional seat, Kharsawan, where she has been active.

High-profile names

Kalpana & Sita Soren: After the death of Shibu Soren's elder son Durga Soren in 2009, his wife Sita was elected. She left the party ahead of Lok Sabha polls and joined BJP and earned her candidature from unreserved Jamtara seat. On the other hand, Kalpana Soren, wife of CM Hemant Soren, entered politics this year and won Gandey by-polls. She is fielded again. Purnima Neeraj Singh & Ragini Singh: Two daughters-in-law of a family are up against each other in Jharia.

- Says ex-home minister had ordered inquiry against him

Ajit blames RR Patil over ₹70K cr irrigation scam

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

> Fadnavis told me that your party leader RR Patil has signed this file to carry out an investigation against you. Now I have to sign as the CM. I felt very sad that day
>
> Ajit Pawar, Deputy Chief Minister

MAHARASHTRA Deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar on Tuesday opened the decade-old irrigation 'scam' projected at ₹70,000 crore and claimed that his colleague and former home minister late RR Patil was responsible for initiating an open inquiry involving him.

Ajit said he was surprised when he learnt that his cabinet colleague and "friend" Patil signed on the file initiating the inquiry. The deputy CM was campaigning for his party candidate Sanjaya Kaka Patil, who is contesting against late RR Patil's son Rohit Patil in Tasgaon-Kavathe Mahankal in Sangli district.

"This happened when the Congress-NCP government in 2014 was on its last legs. Then, we withdrew support to the Congress CM Prithviraj Chavan-led government and later President's rule was imposed. The file then went to the governor who refused to sign it, saying the next elected government will take a decision. "When the BJP government came to power, then CM Fadnavis called me at his residence and showed me the file that was signed by Patil, which I think Patil did purely to defame me," Ajit said.

"Fadnavis told me that your party leader RR Patil signed the file to carry out an investigation against you. He said he had to sign it as the CM," Ajit said. "The entire budget of the irrigation department is ₹ 42,000 crore. How come can it be ₹ 70,000 cr scam? The issue forced me to quit," Ajit said.

Meanwhile, as the Assembly poll temperature shot up in the state, NCP patriarch Sharad Pawar sought to remind his nephew Ajit of his six-month-old speech during the Lok Sabha polls a few months ago. In an aside, He told his nephew not to shed tears over political differences in the family. Sharad was referring to Ajit's speech a couple of days ago. Sharad was in Baramati to campaign for his grand-nephew Yugnedra Pawar who is contesting against his deputy CM uncle Ajit Pawar in Baramati. Citing Ajit, Pawar said: "Sharad will come to Baramati and try to make you emotional; he will bring tears to your eyes and urge you to cast your vote for Supriya Sule, but do not get emotional."

Home turf of Patils

Ajit Pawar tried to project his innocence on the home turf of the Patils. In Tasgaon-Kavathe Mahankal constituency in Sangli, Sanjaya Kaka Patil, is contesting against late RR Patil's son Rohit Patil.

Sikkim CM's son wins bypoll unopposed

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

THE candidates of ruling Sikkim Krantikari Morcha (SKM) won the by-elections to two seats uncontested on Tuesday after the candidates of Opposition Sikkim Democratic Front (SDF) opted out of the race.

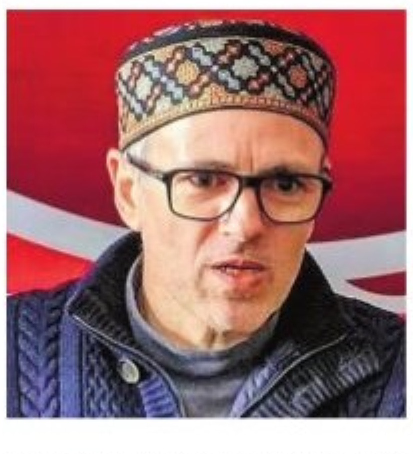
The winners were Aditya Golay Tamang, who is the son of Chief Minister Prem Singh Tamang, and Satish Chandra Rai. Aditya was pitted against SDF's Prem Bahadur Bhandari in a straight contest in the Soreng-Chakung seat after the nomination of Citizen Action Party candidate Pobin Hang Subba was rejected by the Election Commission on Monday. Bhandari withdrew his nomination on Tuesday.

Similarly, Satish was facing a contest from SDF's Daniel Rai in the Namchi-Singhithang seat. Rai withdrew from the contest on Tuesday.

According to election officials, the SKM candidates will be declared winners at the end of last date for withdrawal of nominations which is Wednesday. A jubilant Aditya, who is a former MLA, told the media it was Bhandari's decision. "I think he wants to come and join our programmes for the development of Soreng-Chakung constituency," Aditya said.

Will Omar move Art 370 resolution in 1st House session from Nov 4?

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar



THE first session of newly elected Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly will be held in Srinagar from November 4. The session, which will start with election of Speaker and address of Lt Governor, will last for five days.

It remains to be seen whether the Omar Abdullah-led NC government would pass a resolution on Article 370 restoration in the first Assembly session as was promised by Omar during the election campaigning for Assembly polls.

The schedule for the first Assembly session was released by Protem Speaker Mubarak Gul after approval from Lt Governor Manoj Sinha. The session will begin at 10.30 am on November 4 to elect the Assembly speaker.

Senior National Conference leaders and former ministers Abdur Rahim Rather and Ali Mohammad Sagar are hot favourites for the Speaker's post. Sources said the Speaker may be elected unopposed as BJP may vote in favour of the Speaker in return for being offered Deputy Speaker's post.

After election of Speaker, Lt Governor Manoj Sinha would address the legislators.

The Assembly session of November 5 will have obituary references while discussion on motion of thanks on LT Governor's address would be held on November 6 and 7. The discussion on motion of thanks on LG's address and reply thereof will be conducted on November 8.

During the session, all eyes will be on the Lt Governor's address as his speech would set tone for engagement between the newly elected legislators and the administration.

It would be also very interesting to see if NC moves a resolution on Article 370 restoration during the first session of the Assembly.

3 terrorists who ambushed Army vehicle in Akhnoor killed

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SECURITY forces on Tuesday gunned down two militants holed up a forest area in the Akhnoor sector in Jammu, taking the number of terrorists killed in the two-hour encounter near the Line of Control (LoC) to three, officials said.

One of the three terrorists who fired at an ambulance that was part of an army convoy moving near the LoC on Monday morning was killed by evening in the operation in which the Army used unarmed vehicles, Artificial Intelligence (AI) and BMP-II combat vehicles.

"Two militants, who were holed up in the dense forest of Battal in Akhnoor since Monday, were killed in the gunfight by security forces on Tuesday morning. Another militant was killed by security forces during the search operation in the area on Monday," Major General Sameer Srivastava, GoC of 10 Infantry Division, told reporters

The militants, who were well-armed and wearing combat dress, had fired at an army ambulance that was part of the army convoy in Asan area of Akhnoor. Army's Quick Respect Team (QRT) prevented any loss of life and forced militants to flee into the jungle area, where they were trapped in the cordon.

"It seems that the heavily armed militants intended to carry out a big attack but the timely retaliation by security forces foiled their nefarious designs," Major Gen Srivastava said. The army men, he said, were on high alert after intelligence inputs about possible militant attacks. Students had on Monday noticed three men wearing combat dresses moving suspiciously in the area and informed their teacher and Village Defence Group (VDG) members about it, who alerted the army about their presence. "The timely information by the locals helped the army to foil a big militant attack," Major Gen Srivastava said.

He said the latest sophisticated technology was used during the anti-militancy operation. "We were getting regular aerial surveillance of the area with drones. We also used night surveillance devices, unmanned vehicles and AI to ensure real-time tracking and we achieved quick and successful result," he said.

The army also used BMP vehicles for the first time during anti-militancy operations in J&K. "These hardened vehicles were used to close in on the trapped terrorists," Maj Gen Srivastava said.

Besides the hi-end technological tools, the army also used NSG and elite para commandos to take on the militants, who continued to change their positions during the encounter, he said.

'Mummy-Papa, Vote Do' campaign

In a unique voter awareness initiative taken by the Election Commission in Jharkhand, more than 1.7 million schoolchildren, writing letters to their parents, urged them to vote under 'Mummy-Papa, Vote Do' campaign. The campaign garnered over 80,000 posts on social media, with the hashtag 'Mummy-Papa Vote Do' trending nationally on platform 'X' on Monday itself. As part of this campaign, schoolchildren across the state were given the task of writing heartfelt letters to their parents, encouraging them to fulfill their civic duty by voting. A total of 1,706,182 students from 18,570 schools participated in the initiative.

'Rise of Muslims in state simple mathematics'

Assam CM and Co-election in-charge for Jharkhand, Himanta Biswa Sarma, has termed the rise in Mulsim population in Jharkhand as 'simple mathematics,' alleging that the Muslim population in the state is increasing and the tribal population is decreasing. He claimed infiltration is the reason behind the rise in the Muslim population. According to Himanta, not every Muslim is an infiltrator, but how come population of Muslims increases every 5 years? "Is a family giving birth to 10-12 children? If not, then people are coming from outside. This is simple mathematics," said the Assam CM.

PM Modi to address poll rally in Garhwa on Nov 4

With all parties ramping up their preparations, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will address an election rally at Garhwa on November 4. This will be his first election rally in Jharkhand after the announcement of Assembly poll dates. BJP sources indicate that the Prime Minister will hold 7 election rallies across the state. The state unit BJP has already submitted a proposal to the central leadership to organize at least 7 of PM Modi's rallies in Jharkhand, they said. Of these, 4 are expected to take place in the first phase and 3 in the second phase. The 81 assembly seats in Jharkhand will be contested over two phases.

WILDLIFE CONFLICT

4 wild elephants dead, 5 in serious state in BTR

ANURAAG SINGH @Bhopal

FOUR wild elephants, including three females, were found dead in the jungles of Bandhavgarh Tiger Reserve (BTR) core area in Umaria district of Madhya Pradesh on Tuesday.

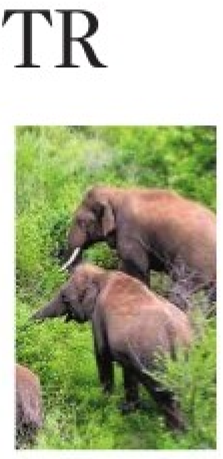
The four elephants were part of a 13-strong herd of jumbo. Health of at least five other elephants of the same herd is reportedly serious and they are unable to stand, while the remaining four are there with the dead and ill elephants.

A team of veterinary doctors has been rushed to the jungle to render emergency medical care to the ill elephants, forensic experts from School of Wildlife Forensic and Health from Jabalpur have been rushed there, an official statement from the MP forest department's principal chief conservator of forest (PCCF-Wildlife) said.

A team of MP forest department's State Tiger Strike Force – the wildlife crime investigation arm – is rushing to the tiger reserve to find the reasons behind the death.

Primary investigation by the BTR management suggests the possibility of the elephants having consumed a large volume of standing Kodo-Kutki crop (millet grains used as rice), which could have led to food poisoning.

The state forest department in Bhopal said that detailed on the spot probe only will lead to ascertaining the real cause of the incident.



Patrolling teams

The incident came to light at around 4 pm, when patrolling teams of BTR found three elephants lying in Salkhaniya-Charakvar jungles under Khitauli range's core area. Later, one more elephant found dead a short distance away.

Gujarat forest dept cages leopard on prowl in Surat

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A man-eater leopard, which killed a seven-year-old boy in a sugarcane farm on Monday night in the Surat district of Gujarat, was captured by the forest officials few hours after the incident. The victim boy's family, originally from Nandurbar, had migrated to Uskar village of Mandvi Taluka in Surat district and camped on the village outskirts along with other labourers and worked in sugarcane fields.

On Monday night, when the family was sleeping outside their settlement, a leopard came and took away Ajay into the farm. When the Lalsinh Vasave family woke up, they did not see their son and started searching for him. On noticing a leopard's pugmark, they immediately informed the village sarpanch, said Police Inspector V R Chosla.

Chosla and forest officer H J Vanda reached the spot along with a team of police officials, and started searching for the boy. Finally, they found the body in a sugarcane farm just 300 metres away from the settlement and sent it for post-mortem. The forest department then put up ten cages on the spot to capture the leopard. Few hours later, the leopard turned up in search of the left over, and was caged, Vanda told the local media. The leopard will be sent to the rehabilitation centre and kept under observation.

ED raids in 15 locations linked to IAS officer in liquor scam case in C'garh

MUKESH RANJAN @Ranchi

THE Enforcement Directorate (ED) raided at least 15 premises linked to IAS officer Vinay Kumar Choubey, joint excise commissioner Gajendra Singh and a number of liquor businessmen as part of a money laundering investigation into an alleged excise scam in poll-bound Jharkhand.

Officials said the searches are being undertaken at the premises in Ranchi and Raipur, the capital of Chhattisgarh, after a criminal case was recently registered by the Jharkhand zonal office of the federal probe agency under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA). The ED took cognisance of a September 7 FIR filed by the anti-corruption bureau (ACB) and the Economic Offences Wing (EOW) of Chhattisgarh police at Raipur against seven people, including Chaubey, for allegedly causing a huge loss to the exchequer and altering the state's liquor policy. Vikas Kumar of Ranchi had lodged a complaint with ED following which the FIR was lodged in Raipur.

It was stated in the application that the entire conspiracy of the liquor scam was hatched in Raipur by making changes in the excise policy. The ED conducted the raids after the Supreme Court rejected Gajendra Singh's petition to quash the FIR.

Chaubey, who previously served as secretary to Jharkhand CM Hemant Soren, also held the post of secretary in the excise and urban development departments.

Choubey, however, was shunted to the panchayati raj department after Soren resigned following his arrest in the land scam. The ED has already interrogated both the officers in the context of their alleged involvement in the liquor scam. The central agency had conducted raids at 32 locations in Ranchi, Deoghar, Dumka and Kolkata on August 23, 2023.

The ED had also searched the premises of state finance minister Rameshwar Oraon, his son Rohit Oraon, liquor businessman Yogendra Tiwari and 32 others. Yogendra was arrested after the raids.

Global police shut down servers of malware group targeting millions

THE HAGUE

A global police operation shut down the servers of one of the world's largest malware platforms that targeted millions of victims, the EU's judicial arm said on Tuesday.

A year-long investigation culminated in "Operation Magnus" with investigators from six countries including the Netherlands, Australia, Britain and the United States working together to smash the criminal scheme. "The infostealers taken down ... targeted millions of victims worldwide, making it one of the largest malware platforms globally," Eurojust said in a statement.

"Authorities discovered that over 1,200 servers in dozens of countries were running the malware," said the agency, which is based in The Hague and coordinated Monday's operation. Investigators shut down three servers in the Netherlands, seized two domains, unsealed charges in the United States and took two people into custody in Belgium, Eurojust said. The criminal platforms, called RedLine and META stole personal data from infected devices including usernames and passwords, as well as automatically saved data like addresses, email addresses and crypto-currency wallets.

The victims' devices became infected when downloading software from unreliable sources. The investigation was triggered when victims came forward and a security company notified authorities about possible servers in the Netherlands linked to the malware.

"After retrieving the personal data, the infostealers sold the information to other criminals through criminal market places," Eurojust said.

"The criminals who purchased the personal data used it to steal money, crypto-currency and to carry out follow-on hacking activities," the agency said.

Authorities have also taken down several Telegram messaging accounts which were used to advertise RedLine and META's services, Dutch police said. "Until recently, Telegram was a service where criminals felt untouchable and anonymous," they said in a statement. "This action has shown that this is no longer the case," police added.

In the United States, law officials have slapped fraud and money laundering charges on a suspected RedLine developer and administrator.

If convicted the suspect "faces a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison for access device fraud, five years in prison for conspiracy to commit computer intrusion, and 20 years in prison for money laundering," the US Attorney's Office said in a statement. AFP

Qassem new Hezbollah head; Israel took out Iran's ballistic missile base

Israel's defence minister says the appointment will be temporary as he is a target now

BEIRUT

LEBANON's Hezbollah movement announced on Tuesday it has chosen deputy head Naim Qassem to succeed Hasan Nasrallah as leader after his death in an Israeli strike on south Beirut last month.

"Hezbollah's (governing) Shura Council agreed to elect... Sheikh Naim Qassem as secretary general of Hezbollah," the Iran-backed group said in a statement, more than a month after Nasrallah's killing.

Hezbollah pledged to keep "the flame of resistance burning" until victory is achieved against Israel after all-out war erupted on September 23.

Reacting to the news, Israel's Defence Minister Yoav Gallant warned Hezbollah's new leader, Naim Qassem, on Tuesday that his appointment was "not for long".

"Temporary appointment. Not for long," Gallant wrote in a post on X alongside a photograph of Qassem. In a separate post in Hebrew, Gallant wrote that the "countdown has begun".

Qassem was elected by the five-member Shura Council, the group's main decision-making body, two days before Tuesday's announcement, a source close to Hezbollah said.

The council may then opt to elect a new leader or keep Qassem in the top post, the source said.

Qassem had long operated in the shadows of Nasrallah. Hashem Safieddine, the head of Hezbollah's executive council, was initially tipped to succeed Nasrallah.

But he too was killed in an Israeli strike on Beirut's southern suburbs shortly after Nasrallah's assassination.

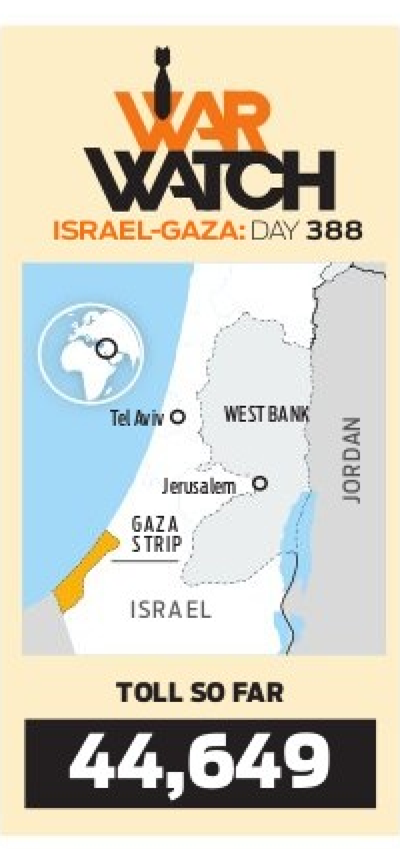
Qassem, 71, was one of Hezbollah's founders in 1982 and had been the party's deputy secretary general since 1991, the year before Nasrallah took the helm.

Meanwhile, Israel's attack on Iran likely damaged a base run by the paramilitary Revolutionary Guard that builds ballistic missiles and launches rockets as part of its own space programme.

The damage at the base in Shahroud raises new questions about Israel's attack early Saturday, particularly as it took place in an area previously unacknowledged by Tehran and involved the Guard, a powerful force within Iran's theocracy that so far has remained silent about any possible damage it suffered from the assault. Iran only has identified Israeli attacks as taking place in Ilam, Khuzestan and Tehran provinces — not in rural Semnan province where the base is located. AP/AFP

Airstrike in Gaza block leaves about 100 dead

Gaza City: A single Israeli air strike on a residential block left nearly 100 dead on Tuesday, Gaza's civil defence agency said. Palestinian rescuers and family members were scouring through the rubble of the demolished five-storey block in Beit Lahia in the north of Gaza, near the Jabalia area where an Israeli operation is underway to root out remaining pockets of Hamas fighters.



Israel faces backlash for UNRWA ban

Jerusalem: Israel faced an international backlash on Tuesday after its parliament approved a bill banning the main United Nations aid agency for the devastated Gaza Strip, where deadly bombing continues. Despite global concerns, including from Israel's ally the United States, lawmakers overwhelmingly voted to ban the UN agency for Palestinian refugees (UNRWA) from working in Israel and annexed east Jerusalem. The lawmakers also passed a measure prohibiting Israeli officials from working with UNRWA and its employees. Israel strictly controls all humanitarian aid shipments to Gaza

All eyes on closing argument of Harris in campaign today

WASHINGTON

KAMALA Harris is making the "closing argument" for her presidential campaign on Tuesday from the same site where Donald Trump in 2021 fomented the Capitol insurrection, hoping it offers a stark visualisation of the alternate futures that voters face if she or Trump takes over the Oval Office in just three months.

One week out from Election Day, Harris was to address from the grassy Ellipse near the White House, to pledge to Americans that she'll work to improve their lives while arguing her Republican opponent is only in it for himself.

She hoped to sharpen that contrast by delivering her capstone speech from the place where Trump on Jan 6, 2021, spewed falsehoods about the 2020 presidential election that inspired a crowd to march to the Capitol and try unsuccessfully to halt the certification of Democrat Joe Biden's victory and the sealing of his own defeat.

With time running out and the race razor-tight, Harris and Trump both have been looking for big moments to try to shift the momentum one way or the other. But after her speech in the nation's capital, Harris will be back to furiously scouring for votes one rally and one event after another in the battleground states.

"It's a place that certainly we believe helps crystalise the choice in this election," said Harris campaign chair Jen O'Malley Dillon of the setting, calling it "A stark visualization of probably the most infamous example of Donald Trump and how he's used his power for bad."

Campaign aides stressed that she will not be delivering a treatise on democracy — a staple of President Joe Biden's own attempts to draw a contrast with Trump — or spend too much time focusing directly on the shocking imagery of that day. Harris aides said the vice president aims to make a broader case for why voters should reject Trump and consider what she offers.

"There's a big difference between he and I," Harris told reporters on Monday in previewing her speech. "If he were elected, on day one he's going to sit in the Oval Office working on his enemies list. On day one, if I am elected, which I fully expect to be, I will be working on behalf of the American people on my to-do list."

Her campaign is hoping a massive crowd for the event will help catch the attention of battleground state voters who remain on the fence about whom to vote for. AP

'I am not a Nazi,' Trump insists

ATLANTA

DONALD Trump told supporters Monday he is "not a Nazi," using a rally in the final week of a bitter White House race to refute accusations of authoritarianism, including from a former top aide who branded him a fascist.

As he and rival Kamala Harris, the current vice president, entered the final stretch of one of the closest US elections in modern times, each candidate and their teams have ramped up the political rhetoric, inflaming an already tense campaign. Democrat Harris, who has accused Trump of stoking divisions, crisscrossed Michigan on Monday while the Republican visited Georgia, another of the decisive swing states, where he said critics are accusing him of being a modern-day "Hitler."

"The newest line from Kamala and her campaign is that everyone who isn't voting for her is a Nazi," Trump told a boisterous rally in Atlanta.

"I'm not a Nazi. I'm the opposite of a Nazi."

The comments come a day after Trump held a major rally in New York condemned for racist remarks his allies made. Trump's longest-serving White House chief of staff, retired general John Kelly, said the Republican fits the definition of a fascist – something Harris said she agreed with last week. AFP

CHURCH SEX-ABUSE VICTIMS NEED COMPENSATION: PANEL

VATICAN CITY

POPE Francis' child protection board called on Tuesday for victims of clergy sexual abuse to have greater access to information about their cases and the right to compensation, in the first-ever global assessment of the Church's efforts to address the crisis. The Pontifical Commission for the Protection of Minors issued a series of findings and recommendations in its pilot annual report, zeroing in on the church in a dozen countries, two religious orders and two Vatican offices with detailed analysis. It called for greater transparency from the Vatican's sex abuse office, the Dicastery for the Doctrine of the Faith. It said the office's slow processing of cases and secrecy were retraumatizing to victims, and its refusal to publish statistics or its own jurisprudence continues "to foment distrust among the faithful, especially the victim/survivor community." AP

FALLING BIRTHRATE

China announces a slew of sops to have more children

BEIJING

CHINA has announced a slew of policies, including a childbirth subsidy system and tax cuts for parents, aimed at motivating couples to have more children to halt the falling birth-rates in order to deal with the looming demographic crisis.

A directive issued by the State Council or the central cabinet on Monday outlined 13 targeted measures designed to enhance childbirth support services; expand childcare systems; strengthen support in education, housing and employment, and cultivate a birth-friendly social atmosphere.

The falling birth rates resulted in China losing the most populous nation in the world to India last year.

The latest initiative also includes improvements to the childbirth subsidy system and personal income tax relief related to childbirth, official media reported. Key provisions include extending the maternity insurance scheme to individuals in flexible employment and rural migrant workers who have already participated in the basic medical insurance scheme.

This move aims to ensure that new parents feel more secure taking time off work, as local authorities are urged to enforce policies regarding maternity, paternity and childcare leave, official media reported. Notably, suitable labour pain relief and assisted reproductive technology services will be added to the list of medical services eligible for insurance reimbursement, state-run CGTN reported.

The new measures appear to have drawn a lukewarm response from the public with a user on microblogging platform Weibo commenting that the measures were like if 'you're buying a Ferrari, and the government is giving you a coupon worth 100 Yuan', the Hong Kong based South China Morning Post reported. China, with its 1.4 billion population, is grappling with a rapidly ageing population with people above 65 years now comprising over 14% of the population. China's population aged 60 years and above approached 300 million by the end of 2023. PTI

FORMER PM LEAVES HOSPITAL

Malaysia's nearly 100-year-old former prime minister Mahathir Mohamad has been discharged from hospital, his office said on Tuesday, almost two weeks after he was admitted for a respiratory infection. "He will be working at the office as usual," his office said. Mahathir was hospitalised for "continuous coughing". AFP

Nuclear reactor near Fukushima to restart

TOKYO

A Japanese nuclear reactor with an upgraded anti-tsunami wall was set to restart on Tuesday in a region near the crippled Fukushima plant, according to its operator. Unit number two at the Onagawa plant in the northeastern Miyagi region, next to Fukushima prefecture, was to become operational on Tuesday, according to Tohoku Electric Power Company.

Japan has been turning back to nuclear power in order to cut emissions, reduce expensive imports of fossil fuels and meet energy demand for data centres for artificial intelligence (AI).

"Nuclear power, along with renewable energy, is an important decarbonised power source, and our policy is to make maximum use of it on condition that safety is ensured", top government spokesman Yoshimasa Hayashi told reporters on Tuesday.

Japan shut down all of its 54 reactors after the 2011 Fukushima disaster, but has since brought 12 of 33 still operable units online – although none in eastern and northern regions. The 2011 earthquake and tsunami that killed around 18,000 people cut power lines and flooded backup generators at Fukushima Daiichi, sending three reactors into meltdown.

Safety and regulatory standards have been tightened since, and the Onagawa plant – cleared in 2020 to re-start – has increased the height of its anti-tsunami wall to 29 metres (95 feet) above sea level, one of the highest in Japan.

The reboot also marks the first time a boiling water reactor (BWR) – the same model used at Fukushima – will be brought back online since the meltdown.

"The importance of restarting (nuclear reactors) is growing from the perspective of our nation's economic growth driven by decarbonised power sources", Hayashi said. AFP

Demand remains concern: Bhargava

Maruti Suzuki net profit declines on higher provisioning after indexation benefit withdrawal

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AMID rising concerns of a major slowdown in the automobile sector that has forced companies and dealer showrooms to give big discounts, the country's largest carmaker Maruti Suzuki India Ltd (MSIL) said on Tuesday that its retail sales this festive season (between the end of Shraadh and Diwali) is likely to have grown by 14% to nearly 3 lakh units.

"The festive season has been pretty good. We are expecting 14% growth in retail sales. This will bring down inventory level at dealer showrooms by this month-end," said Maruti Suzuki Chairman RC Bhargava while acknowledging that demand for cars, especially that are priced below ₹10 lakh, has slowed down due to lack of affordability.

Bhargava said MSIL's wholesale numbers are lower than retail sales as they have been reducing their production level to bring down inventory levels at deal showrooms. He is confident that the inventory level will come down to less than 30 days by the end of this month.

Bhargava's statement comes despite reports claimed that the inventory level has now stretched to nearly 80 days. Dealer association body FADA had last month said inventory levels of passenger vehicles (PVs) have reached alarming levels, with stock days then stretching to 70-75 days and inventory totalling 7.8 lakh vehicles, valued at ₹77,800 crore. As per reports, Bhargava said the fall in sales of cars priced under 10 lakh is a major concern. He added that unless the lower end of the market grows, there are going to be no feeders to the upper end of the market. "During 2018-19, as much as 80% of the car sales in India were in the under-Rs 10 lakh category, and that market is not growing at the moment," said Bhargava.

MSIL reports a 17% drop in PAT

NEW DELHI: Maruti Suzuki India, which has a market share of about 42% in the domestic market, on Tuesday reported a 17% drop in its standalone net profit for the September quarter at ₹3,069 crore, compared to ₹3,716.5 crore reported in the same period last year. MSIL said PAT fell due to a provision of ₹837 crore resulting from the withdrawal of indexation benefit and change in the tax rate on long-term capital gains on debt mutual funds as per the Finance Act 2024. The company sold a total of 541,550 vehicles during the quarter, of which the domestic market volume was 463,834 vehicles and the export volume was 77,716 vehicles. Dhanteras: Gold sales fall 5% in volume, rise 20% in value

UMA KANNAN/ MONIKA YADAV

10 gram 22 karat gold in Delhi at ₹73,900

The price of 10 gram gold (22 karat) was ₹73,900, while 24 karat gold at ₹80,600 in New Delhi on Tuesday. Vikas Singh, MD & CEO of MMTC-PAMP, said purchasing gold coins and bars during Dhanteras and Diwali continues to hold significance and cut in import duty from 15% to 6% has boosted demand. Blinkit, Swiggy Instamart, BigBasket and Zepto too offered gold and silver coin on Tuesday

DHANTERAS, which marks the beginning of the festival season, saw a significant gold sales boom, as it garnered sales of about 20-22 tonnes of gold, which is worth nearly ₹16,000 crore.

All India Gem and Jewellery Domestic Council (GJC) chairman Saiyam Mehra said though compared to last year, this year witnessed 5% fall in volume, it saw 15-20% increase in value. "While there were gold sales of about ₹16,000 crore, the full jewellery sector saw ₹18,000-₹20,000 crore sales," he said.

Retailers said by Tuesday afternoon they witnessed an increase in the footfall. Rajesh Rokde, Vice Chairman GJC, said, "With gold prices rising everyday due to various reasons, the demand for yellow metal is also growing at a good pace. This Dussehra and Dhanteras witnessed positive sales across the nation with around 20% to 25% boost as compared to last year. Also, the innovative and attractive schemes run by retailers have also helped in getting the good numbers."

Ramesh Kalyanaraman, executive director - Kalyan Jewellers, said they have seen steady footfall this Dhanteras, reflecting a blend of traditional and modern purchase preferences among consumers. "Despite higher gold prices, demand has remained strong. Conservative buyers favoured Shagun coins, while lightweight or 18k jewellery attracted younger shoppers. With the upcoming wedding season, we also saw interest in elaborate pieces," he said.

The festive spirit was evident, with increased interest and momentum on Dhanteras, particularly during evening Muhurat hours, he said, adding that "they are expecting this momentum to continue till tomorrow ." The price of 10 gram gold (22 karat) was ₹73,900, while 24 karat gold reached ₹80,600 in New Delhi on Tuesday. Vikas Singh, MD & CEO of MMTC-PAMP, said purchasing gold coins and bars during Dhanteras and Diwali continues to hold significance and reduction in import duty from 15% to 6% has further boosted demand.

"Additionally, traditional festive and wedding seasons continue driving strong demand, with consumers adapting their purchasing patterns," Singh added.

Apart from retail jewellers, online platforms such as Blinkit, Swiggy Instamart, BigBasket and Zepto too offered gold and silver coin delivery in 10 minutes on Tuesday.

More tariff increases to take place in telecom sector, says Airtel CEO

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

Current tariff rates are still quite poor: Vittal

Gopal Vittal, chief executive officer, while speaking at the earnings call of its second quarter FY 2024-25, also mentioned that there has been 31 round of tariff hikes, and more are to come to improve the industry. "We have just gone through one round of repair. We should wait for it to fully settle. But clearly, there's more to be done in this market. I think the current economics are still quite poor and really need to improve dramatically," said Vittal.

BHARTI AIRTEL on Tuesday said there will be more tariff hikes in the telecom sector as current economic conditions are still quite poor.

Gopal Vittal, chief executive officer, while speaking at the earnings call of its second quarter FY 2024-25, also mentioned that there has been 31 round of tariff hikes, and more are to come to improve the industry.

"We have just gone through one round of repair. We should wait for it to fully settle. But clearly, there's more to be done in this market. I think the current economics are still quite poor and really need to improve dramatically," said Vittal.

In July 2024, Airtel increased tariff up to 25% in its prepaid plans. Subsequently, during the September quarter, Airtel lost nearly 2.9 million customers due to SIM consolidation triggered by the tariff hike. However, Vittal downplayed the impact of this subscriber loss, describing it as milder than previous instances.

"In the mobility business, we experienced a loss of 2.9 million customers due to SIM consolidation triggered by the tariff repair. But this decline was milder than what we observed in earlier rounds. As we've seen in the past, these trends normalize over two quarters and we've already seen that normalisation happen," said Vittal.

Meanwhile, Airtel reported a robust financial performance for the second quarter. The company's consolidated net profit surged by 168% to ₹3,593 crore compared to ₹1,341 crore in the same period last year.

Additionally, average revenue per user (ARPU) increased by 15% to ₹233. Airtel also announced that Shashwat Sharma, currently the chief operating officer, will take over as managing director and chief executive officer from January 1, 2026.

Gopal Vittal will move to the role of executive vice-chairman, continuing to contribute to the company's growth and strategy. Vittal clarified that he remains committed to the Bharti Group and has no plans to pursue opportunities outside the organisation.

He will assume additional responsibilities, including overseeing digital procurement, talent management, network strategy, and emerging growth areas.

"I am fully committed to the Bharti Group, and I have no intention of taking on anything outside the group," Vittal added.

TCS signs 15 years deal with Irish govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

TATA Consultancy Services (TCS) has secured a 15-year contract with Ireland's Department of Social Protection (DSP) to implement and support the country's new Auto Enrolment Retirement Savings Scheme, known as the My Future Fund. This initiative will provide a digital solution for automatic enrolment of nearly 800,000 workers in Ireland, the company said on Tuesday.

Leveraging its TCS BaNCS platform and ecosystem, TCS will oversee administration of the scheme. Services will be delivered via TCS' Global Delivery Centre in Letterkenny, Co. Donegal, Ireland. This project follows the passing of the Automatic Enrolment Retirement Savings System Bill in Ireland earlier this year and the conclusion of a rigorous tender process by the Department of Social Protection, TCS added in a statement. Though TCS didn't disclose the deal size, an Irish daily in June reported that the deal is valued up to EUR 150 million. TCS has experience with similar schemes in the UK and other markets, having managed the National Employment Savings Trust (NEST) since the UK government launched a digital auto-enrolment scheme in 2011.

EKA bullish on opportunities in electric commercial vehicle space

HRITHIK KIRAN BAGADE @ Bengaluru

EKA Mobility, the electric mobility arm of Pune-based Pinnacle Industries, has envisioned to emerge as a global volume leader in the electric vehicle segment, serving the entire commercial vehicle space.

Backed by a strong parent company – an automotive industry veteran – and robust support from global equity partners, EKA has charted a multi-pronged roadmap, which includes a diversified product range, manufacturing footprint, and exploration of new markets, all powered by a $100-million investment.

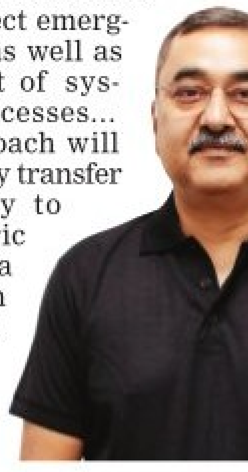
EKA Mobility Chief Growth Officer Rohit Srivastava said, "Our intent is to play across the entire CV arena, including passenger and cargo. When it comes to passenger movement, we look to be a six-seater people-mover. We also eye high-end buses."

EKA's product portfolio will be rolled out in phases. While a part of its coach and bus range has already been unveiled, the company will be rolling out additional products as part of Phase-3, in 2026-27. In August this year, the company unveiled the EKA 9, a pure electric city bus in two variants, with 650mm and 900mm platform options; and the EKA K1.5, an eLCV designed to enhance range and lower operating costs.

Strong tech backing

Pinnacle Industries helps EKA with in-house capabilities, especially with seating solutions and structural design. "The structure is designed in-house, enabling us to control quality, reliability of the supply chain, and cost," said Srivastava. Besides, in December last year, EKA announced a partnership with VDL Groep of the Netherlands, and Mitsui & Co., Ltd. of Japan. The cooperation put forth a joint investment of over $100 million in phases (a mix of internal accruals and equity investment).

"Mitsui will make significant financial investments in EKA Mobility, enabling the company to scale up its manufacturing operations and expand its product portfolio. Mitsui will also provide support to EKA for exports to select emerging markets, as well as establishment of systems and processes... VDL Bus & Coach will support EKA by transfer of technology to produce electric buses in India for the Indian market," a statement by EKA said.



According-ly, the investment will also drive EKA's manufacturing push. "Our Koregaon Bhima factory already has two lines running. We are very quickly completing the remaining paraphernalia. Our Chakan factory is coming up strongly too, which will host small CV and coach assembly, as well as an R&D centre," Srivastava told TNIE.

Meanwhile, as part of its global plans, EKA is pioneering a 'Smart Lean Factories' approach, which requires minimum investment, compared with conventional automobile manufacturing units. "We will be able to enable someone to set up an assembly unit in a different geography, and share our technology. We can send some components from here, and help them make other components there, while making their own value additions," explained Srivastava.

Commencing operations only four years ago, EKA serves a range of customers today. It is keen on government, as well as private customers in India and globally, participating in tenders.

"We are open to operating anywhere, with operating partners, or as part of an SPV, JV, or consortium, etc.," he concluded.

Q2FY25 RESULTS

Adani Ent reports 8-fold rise in profit, Adani Port PAT up 40%

NEW DELHI: Adani Enterprises Ltd (AEL), flagship company of Adani Group, on Tuesday reported an eight-fold or 664% year-on-year (YoY) jump in its September quarter consolidated net profit at ₹1,742 crore as against ₹228 crore reported by it in the year-ago period. The company's revenue from operations grew by 16% to ₹22,608 crore in the reported quarter compared to ₹19,546 crore in the corresponding quarter of the previous fiscal. "This record-breaking half-year performance has been led by Adani New Industries Ltd (ANIL) and Adani Airport Holdings Ltd (AAHL) with their rapid growth in capacity additions and asset utilisation," said Gautam Adani, Chairman of the Adani Group. Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone Ltd (APSEZ)'s net profit for the quarter ended September rose 40% to ₹2,445 crore. It reported net profit of ₹1,748 crore in the year-ago quarter. ENS

Canara Bank profit rises 11% to ₹4K cr, asset quality improves

NEW DELHI: State-owned Canara Bank on Tuesday reported an 11% increase in its net profit at ₹4,015 crore in the second quarter ended September 2024. The Bengaluru-based lender had earned a net profit of ₹3,606 crore in the same quarter in the previous financial year. Total income rose to ₹34,721 crore during the quarter under review against ₹31,472 crore in the same quarter last year, Canara Bank said in a regulatory filing. The bank reported an interest income of ₹29,740 crore during the quarter, higher than ₹26,838 crore in the same period a year ago. On asset quality front, the bank saw improvement with gross NPAs falling to 3.73% of gross loans by September-end 2024 from 4.76% a year ago. ENS

RBI brings back 102 tonnes gold from BoE; 60% reserves in India

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

RBI held 854.73 tonne of gold by September-end

RBI now holds 60% of its total gold reserve of 854.73 tonne domestically. The banking regulator on Tuesday said at end-September 2024, it held 854.73 tonne of gold, of which 510.46 tonne were held domestically. While 324.01 tonne of gold were kept in safe custody with the Bank of England and the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), 20.26 tonne were held in the form of gold deposits.

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has brought back another 102 tonnes of gold, which were kept in safe custody in the Bank of England and the Bank for International Settlements, back to India between March and September 2024.

RBI now holds 60% of its total gold reserve of 854.73 tonne domestically. The banking regulator on Tuesday informed that at end-September 2024, it held 854.73 tonne of gold, of which 510.46 tonne were held domestically. While 324.01 tonne of gold were kept in safe custody with the Bank of England and the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), 20.26 tonnes were held in the form of gold deposits. In value terms (USD), the share of gold in the total foreign exchange reserves increased from 8.15% at end-March 2024 to about 9.32% as at end-September 2024. ByMarch-end 2024, the RBI held 822.10 tonne of gold, 408.31 tonne were held domestically, 387.26 tonne held in custody with the Bank of England and the Bank for International Settlements (BIS), while 26.53 tonnes were held in the form of gold deposits.

Earlier this year, the RBI had moved 100 tonne of gold back from the Bank of England, making it the first big move to bring back gold in India after the 1991 pledging of gold to raise money. Meanwhile, the Reserve Bank of India in its foreign reserve management report released on Tuesday said that forex reserves increased from $646.42 billion as at end-March 2024 to $705.78 billion as at end-September 2024.

As per the report, by the end of June 2024, forex reserves cover of import stood at 11.2 months (11.3 months at end-March 2024). The foreign currency assets comprise multi-currency assets that are held in multi-asset portfolios as per the existing norms, which conform to the best international practices followed in this regard. At end-September 2024, out of the total FCA of $617.07 billion, $515.30 billion was invested in securities, $60.11 billion was deposited with other central banks and the BIS and the balance $41.66 billion comprised deposits with commercial banks overseas.

JSW Group, Korea's POSCO sign MoU to develop steel plants

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

JSW Group (JSW) signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) on Tuesday with Korea's POSCO Group (POSCO) to develop steel plants and work on battery materials and renewable energy sectors in India. Both companies will establish an integrated steel plant in India with an initial capacity of 5 million tonnes per annum. Beyond steel, the partnership aims to enhance cooperation in battery materials and renewable energy.

The exact amount of investment involved has been disclosed by either side. As one of the world's fastest-growing economies, India presents tremendous opportunities for sustainable growth, and our partnership with POSCO strengthens JSW's commitment to drive that transformation. This JV also entails collaboration for renewable energy for a state-of-the-art integrated steel plant and for setting up an EV ecosystem in India. Together, we aim to set a benchmark in technology and sustainability that can shape the future of manufacturing in India and beyond," said Sajjan Jindal, Chairman of JSW Group.

The collaboration between JSW Group and POSCO Group is expected to boost India's steel production capacity and advance sustainability efforts in both countries. The two groups will also explore collaborations in battery materials related to electric vehicles (EVs) and renewable energy to meet the captive requirements of the proposed integrated steel plant. JSW's leading manufacturing presence and strong project execution capabilities, combined with POSCO's technological excellence, will create a robust platform for developing cutting-edge solutions for the Indian steel and energy sectors.

WHEN Akash Deep replaced Mohammed Siraj in the playing XI for the Pune Test against New Zealand, it all indicated towards form. Yes, the Indian team has been prone to rotating their fast bowlers at home — they did the same during the England series earlier this year — but here, it felt like there is more to it.

In the eight matches he played this year, Siraj had accounted for 19 wickets at an average of 29.47, which from the outset might not look as bad. But take away the one Cape Town Test, Siraj had just 12 scalps to show in 14 innings at home. The home average this year was 42.83. The only good thing about it is that it is better than his home Test average last year — 73.

Clearly, something is not going right for Siraj. Off the 14 innings at home, he has gone wicketless in nine of them. It is not just that he has gone wicketless — when India are playing at home spinners are expected to take care of the workload more often than not — but the fact that Siraj's only wicket with the new ball at home this year came in Chennai. In every other innings, he had not been able to make an impact up front. It is easy to pinpoint the numbers on form, but there seems to be an underlying factor. India, while rotating the bowlers in the longest format as much as they can, seem to have bowled Siraj into the ground over the last couple of years.

Since Siraj broke into the Indian team till the postponed one-off Test against England in July 2022, he had played 13 red-ball matches and had 40 wickets to show at 30.77. Now, the months that followed would mark an important phase in Indian cricket — Jasprit Bumrah's injury. Bumrah's last international match before injury came on September 26, 2022 was against Australia. Till that point, Siraj had played ten ODIs and five T20Is for India. However, having been Bumrah's lieutenant with the new ball, Siraj was naturally thrust with the extra responsibility in his absence. In the months to come, he would become a regular in both white-ball formats while also playing Test cricket. So much so that from the time Bumrah went out of action, Siraj's name became the most consistent one in the team sheet across formats. Since September 26, 2022 till the second Test against New Zealand in Pune, no frontline Indian pacer has played as much cricket as Siraj has. In this period, he has played 62 matches across formats — 17 Tests, 34 ODIs and 11 T20Is — with the next name on the list being Arshdeep Singh with 53 appearances.

Now, here is the kicker. All of Arshdeep's outings were in limited overs. The left-arm pacer is yet to play a Test. The next pacer who has appeared for India in the longest format since Bumrah's layoff began is Jasprit himself. And he has played only 37 games across formats. Mohammed Shami played 29 in this period, and Mukesh Kumar 26. In fact, barring Bumrah (10) and Siraj (17), no Indian pacer has touched double digits in Test appearances over the last two years. The closest is now out of favour Umesh Yadav with five.

For all the talk about transition in batting, India have been going through one in bowling as well. And in this process, it seems like Siraj's workload has gone under the radar. Now, it has to be mentioned that Siraj's record in ODIs in the last couple of years has been nothing short of remarkable and one can see why India wants him on the field every time. However, it seems to have affected his red-ball — even IPL to an extent as he looked like a shadow of himself in 2024 — output.

Dropped for form or rested for workload, one can only hope that the break from action does some good for Siraj. That even if he doesn't feature in the third Test against New Zealand in Mumbai this week, he rests and comes back as the bowler he was in 2021. After all, he will be crucial in India's attempt to retain the Border Gavaskar Trophy Down Under.

Spaniard Rodri wins Ballon d'Or as Real skip event

AGENCIES @Paris

MANCHESTER City and Spain midfielder Rodri was awarded the men's Ballon d'Or on Monday after winning a fourth consecutive Premier League title and Euro 2024, but Real Madrid boycotted the ceremony. The decision to award the prize for the world's best player to the midfielder came as a surprise, with Real Madrid's Liga and Champions League double winner Vinicius Junior widely seen as the favourite.

Hours before the ceremony in Paris, the Spanish club announced its delegation would not attend the ceremony at Chatelet Theatre because of what it perceived as a snub of Vinicius. Rodri, 28, played a key role as City held off Arsenal to win the Premier League title last season and was named player of the tournament at Euro 2024 as unfancied Spain emerged triumphant in Germany. Rodri was diplomatic when addressing the question of Real's no-show in his post-award press conference. "They have their decision, they didn't want to be here for their reasons," he said. "I just focus on my club and my team-mates." The drama started hours before the ceremony as Spanish and European champions Real said if Vinicius was not the winner, then the award should go to his teammate Dani Carvajal.

Like the Brazilian, Carvajal scored in the 2-0 victory against Borussia Dortmund in the Champions League final at Wembley. Vinicius scored 24 goals and made 11 assists in 39 matches across all competitions for Madrid as he led the club to three titles last season. "If the award criteria doesn't give it to Vinicius as the winner, then those same criteria should point to Carvajal as the winner," Real Madrid told a news agency. "As this was not the case, it is clear that Ballon d'Or-UEFA does not respect Real Madrid. And Real Madrid does not go where it is not respected."

The Madrid contingent of nominees also included Kylian Mbappe, Antonio Rudiger, Fede Valverde and Jude Bellingham. The winner of the Ballon d'Or is chosen from the shortlist by an international jury of 100 specialist journalists.

Speedster Rana asked to join team

GOMESH S @Chennai

PACER Harshit Rana has been asked to join the Indian team ahead of the third Test against New Zealand in Mumbai. Rana, who was part of the Delhi team in its Ranji Trophy clash against Assam, will join the national side on Wednesday.

This call-up comes less than a week after Rana was included in the India Test squad for the five-match series in Australia which begins on November 22. However, it should not come as a surprise should Rana get his Test cap at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on Friday.

Since his inclusion in the squad for the Australia series, Rana took a fifer against Assam in the Ranji Trophy clash played at Arun Jaitley Stadium, New Delhi. He followed it up with a crucial fifty and two wickets in the second innings which helped Delhi notch up their first victory of the season on Tuesday.

The pacer, who broke into the limelight after his performance for Kolkata Knight Riders in this year's IPL, has been on the rise since. He got the ODI call-up during the Sri Lanka tour but did not get any game. Since then, he has taken two four-wicket hauls in the Duleep Trophy and followed it up with a fifer in the Ranji match against Assam.

At a time when India are looking to build their fast bowling pool, especially with the workload of Jasprit Bumrah increasing, Rana's call-up only shows the trust team management and selectors have placed in him. With the series on the line, he could get the first taste of international cricket in Mumbai this week before getting on that plane to Australia.

RECOVERING WILLIAMSON TO MISS 3rd TEST AS WELL

NEW DELHI: Senior batter Kane Williamson will miss the third Test against India at Mumbai to ensure full recovery from a groin injury ahead of the home series versus England, starting from November 28. Williamson did not play in the first two Tests against India, which the Kiwis won to take an unassailable 2-0 lead in the three-match series. It also ended India's 18-series winning streak at home dating back to 2012. "Kane continues to show good signs, but isn't quite ready to jump on a plane and join us," NZ head coach Gary Stead said in a media release. "While things are looking promising, we think the best course of action is for him to stay in New Zealand and focus on the final part of his rehabilitation so he'll be good to go for England," Stead added. The first Test between New Zealand and England will be played at Christchurch. "The England series is still a month away so taking the cautious approach now will ensure he is ready for the first Test in Christchurch," Stead said.

Smriti Mandhana hit a century in the final ODI against New Zealand on Tuesday | SPORTZPICS

Are India too reliant on Kaur & Smriti in ODIs?

KALYANI MANGALE @Chennai

THE moment India crashed out of the ODI World Cup in 2022, one thing was certain. They needed to look beyond Mithali Raj for their batting exploits. Looking at the glimpses from the tournament, it was understood that then vice-captain Harmanpreet Kaur and opener Smriti Mandhana were the two players around whom India could build their batting lineup. Both exceptionally talented players taking two different roles in the batting order were expected to lead the young group of players. And that is what happened.

With the win in the final ODI against New Zealand at Narendra Modi Stadium on Tuesday, where Mandhana went past Raj to score eight ODI centuries and Kaur remained unbeaten on 59, the reliance on two stalwarts got underlined once again. A deeper dive into numbers would tell how much India requires the two experienced players to stand up if they are to cross the line. Since 2022, India has played 18 ODIs, with the duo featuring in 17 fixtures each. In those matches, Mandhana has amassed 902 runs, while the captain has scored 666 runs. The next best scorer for India is Jemimah Rodrigues with 390 runs across 11 innings.

The only notable exception to this dependency came in this series in the first ODI when despite Kaur not playing and Mandhana scoring in single digits, India managed to put 227. However, with all eyes on the ODI World Cup in 2025 on home soil, India would hope that this doesn't turn into an over-reliance of sorts. The glimpses of other players taking up the responsibility have been on display, but India still need them to perform better, especially in the situations when Kaur and Mandhana don't get going. With the next ODI series in December, India have enough time to create a second string of batters who can play that role. For now, they have a series win to celebrate.

Brief scores: NZ 232 in 49.5 ovs (Halliday 86; Sharma 3/39) lost to India 236/4 in 44.2 ovs (Mandhana 100, Kaur 59 n.o.; Rowe 2/47).

Rublev loses temper and the match

AGENCIES @Paris

SIXTH-SEEDED Andrey Rublev lost two tiebreakers and his temper as his hopes of qualifying for the ATP Finals took a hit on Tuesday at the Paris Masters. Facing Francisco Cerundolo in the second round at the indoor tournament, Rublev lost 7-6 (6), 7-6 (5) after a match that lasted more than two hours. Rublev was so frustrated at one point in the second set that he smashed his racket against his left knee at least seven times in succession. Video footage showed the outburst left his knee bleeding.

The Russian player held the eighth and final qualifying place in the race for the season-ending ATP Finals and could be overtaken by rivals this week.

The ATP said that Taylor Fritz became the fifth player to qualify on Tuesday, making it to the season-ending tournament for the second time in the past three years. The indoor event gathering the top eight players of the season will take place in Turin, Italy, from Nov. 10-17. Fritz joined Jannik Sinner, Carlos Alcaraz, Alexander Zverev and Daniil Medvedev in the field.

Sinner out of Paris Masters

Sinner pulled out of the Paris Masters on Monday, citing a virus. The Italian player is guaranteed to finish the year as No 1. Sinner was the second high-profile player to pull out following seven-time champion Novak Djokovic. Earlier on Tuesday, big-serving Giovanni Mpetshi Perricard of France hit 28 aces on his way to defeating Frances Tiafoe 6-7 (5), 7-6 (4), 6-3.

10-man Mallorca hold Bilbao in La Liga

MADRID: Athletic Bilbao was held to a 0-0 draw at Mallorca despite playing for more than an hour with a man advantage. Mallorca's Portuguese midfielder Samú Costa was sent off for a second booking in the 23rd minute. Bilbao went on to dominate but couldn't find a breakthrough. Nico Williams had a goal ruled out after a video review.

De Zorzi, Stubbs tons steer SA to 307-2 vs B'desh

CHITTAGONG: Tony de Zorzi (141 n.o) and Tristan Stubbs (106) put South Africa in command on 307-2 and left Bangladesh floundering after day one of the second and final Test in Chattogram on Tuesday. Both men made their maiden Test hundreds in a second-wicket partnership of 201 after the visitors won the toss and chose to take first use of a good batting pitch as they eye a series sweep.

Gani's century in vain as Karnataka hammer Bihar

ENS/AGENCIES @Chennai

SAKIBUL Gani's century wasn't enough to prevent Bihar from succumbing to an eight-wicket loss against Karnataka, who claimed their first outright win of this season. After declaring overnight at 287/7 with a 144-run lead, Karnataka dismissed both Bihar openers for just six runs in the second over of the final day. Gani then partnered with Babul Kumar in a defiant 130-run stand that frustrated the Karnataka bowlers. Gani was the last man to be dismissed but not before guiding the team to 212. Needing just 69 runs to win, Karnataka chased down the target in 10.1 overs.

Bonus win for Hyderabad

HYDERABAD: Slow left-arm spinner Tanay Thyagarajan bagged seven wickets as hosts Hyderabad won their first match of the season.

After declaring their first innings for 536/8, Hyderabad bowled out Puducherry for 153 in their first essay before asking them to follow on. Opener Ganga Sridhar Raju (106) slammed a ton in the second innings but that could not help Puducherry to avoid a loss by an innings and 50 runs. Hyderabad, who had lost their previous two matches, have now climbed to No. 5 in the table.

Innings victory for Himachal

VISAKHAPATNAM: Fast bowler Vinay Galetiya took a five-fer and shared nine wickets with left-arm spinner Mayank Dagar to help Himachal Pradesh register a comprehensive win by an innings and 38 runs in their against Andhra in Visakhapatnam on Tuesday. The win with one bonus point meant Himachal now sit at number 3 in the Group B standings. Meanwhile, the loss was Andhra's third consecutive in as many matches and they are now placed last in the table.

Bengal, Kerala split points

KOLKATA: Hosts Bengal and Kerala shared a point each as their match ended in a draw. Resuming at 267/7, Kerala declared their innings at 356/9. Openers Shuvam Dey (67) and Sudip Chatterjee (57) then added 101 runs to give the hosts a solid start. Bengal were 181/3 at the end of the day's play.

Delhi rout Assam

NEW DELHI: Sumit Mathur's batting heroics coupled with brilliant performance from pacers powered Delhi to a comprehensive 10-wicket win over Assam in their match. On the fourth and final day, Assam were bowled out for 182 in 42 overs with the Delhi pacers doing their job. The pacers accounted for eight Assam batters in their second innings. Number 7 batter Sumit Ghadigaonkar (76 not out) made a spirited late-order resistance but his teammates did not give him company and he ran out of partners.

Vijay helps TN draw match

COIMBATORE: Vijay Shankar's unbeaten 106 runs helped Tamil Nadu to force a draw against Chhattisgarh on Day 4 of their match. However, the visitors walked away with crucial three points by virtue of the first innings lead. TN kipper N Jagadeesan also scored 60 runs.

COSMIC ORIGINS OF CARBON

A team led by researchers at MIT has discovered that a distant interstellar cloud contains an abundance of pyrene, a type of large, carbon-containing molecule known as a polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbon (PAH).

The discovery of pyrene in this far-off cloud, which is similar to the collection of dust and gas that eventually became our own Solar System, suggests that pyrene may have been the source of much of the carbon in our Solar System. That hypothesis is also supported by a recent finding that samples returned from the near-Earth asteroid Ryugu contain large quantities of pyrene.

"One of the big questions in star and planet formation is: How much of the chemical inventory from that early molecular cloud is inherited and forms the base components of the Solar System? What we're looking at is the start and the end, and they're showing the same thing. That's pretty strong evidence that this material from the early molecular cloud finds its way into the ice, dust, and rocky bodies that make up our solar system," says Brett McGuire, an assistant professor of chemistry at MIT.

Due to its symmetry, pyrene itself is invisible to the radio astronomy techniques that have been used to detect about 95% of molecules in space. Instead, the researchers detected an isomer of cyanopyrene, a version of pyrene that has reacted with cyanide to break its symmetry. The molecule was detected in a distant cloud known as TMC-1, using the 100-meter Green Bank Telescope (GBT), a radio telescope at the Green Bank Observatory in West Virginia.

McGuire and Ilsa Cooke, an assistant professor of chemistry at the University of British Columbia, are the senior authors of a paper describing the findings, which will appear in Science. Gabi Wenzel, an MIT postdoc in McGuire's group, is the lead author of the study.

Carbon in space

PAHs, which contain rings of carbon atoms fused together, are believed to store 10-25% of the carbon that exists in space. More than 40 years ago, scientists using infrared telescopes began detecting features that are thought to belong to vibrational modes of PAHs in space, but this technique couldn't reveal exactly which types of PAHs were out there.

"Since the PAH hypothesis was developed in the 1980s, many people have accepted that PAHs are in space, and they have been found in meteorites, comets, and asteroid samples, but we can't really use infrared spectroscopy to unambiguously identify individual PAHs in space," Wenzel says.

In 2018, a team led by McGuire reported the discovery of benzonitrile — a six-carbon ring attached to a nitrile (carbon-nitrogen) group — in TMC-1. To make this discovery, they used the GBT, which can detect molecules in space by their rotational spectra — distinctive patterns of light that molecules give off as they tumble through space. In 2021, his team detected the first individual PAHs in space: two isomers of cyanonaphthalene, which consists of two rings fused together, with a nitrile group attached to one ring.

On Earth, PAHs commonly occur as byproducts of burning fossil fuels, and they're also found in char marks on grilled food. Their discovery in TMC-1, which is only about 10 kelvins, suggested that it may also be possible for them to form at very low temperatures.

The fact that PAHs have also been found in meteorites, asteroids, and comets has led many scientists to hypothesize that PAHs are the source of much of the carbon that formed our own solar system. In 2023, researchers in Japan found large quantities of pyrene in samples returned from the asteroid Ryugu during the Hayabusa2 mission, along with smaller PAHs including naphthalene.

That discovery motivated McGuire and his colleagues to look for pyrene in TMC-1. Pyrene, which contains four rings, is larger than any of the other PAHs that have been detected in space. In fact, it's the third-largest molecule identified in space, and the largest ever detected using radio astronomy. Before looking for these molecules in space, the researchers first had to synthesize cyanopyrene in the laboratory. The cyano or nitrile group is necessary for the molecule to emit a signal that a radio telescope can detect. The synthesis was performed by MIT postdoc Shuo Zhang in the group of Alison Wendlandt, an MIT associate professor of chemistry. Then, the researchers analysed the signals that the molecules emit in the laboratory, which are exactly the same as the signals that they emit in space.

Using the GBT, the researchers found these signatures throughout TMC-1. They also found that cyanopyrene accounts for about 0.1% of all the carbon found in the cloud, which sounds small but is significant when one considers the thousands of different types of carbon-containing molecules that exist in space, McGuire says.

"While 0.1% doesn't sound like a large number, most carbon is trapped in carbon monoxide (CO), the second-most abundant molecule in the universe besides molecular hydrogen. If we set CO aside, one in every few hundred or so remaining carbon atoms is in pyrene. Imagine the thousands of different molecules that are out there, nearly all of them with many different carbon atoms in them, and one in a few hundred is in pyrene," he says. "That is an absolutely massive abundance. An almost unbelievable sink of carbon. It's an interstellar island of stability."

Ewine van Dishoeck, a professor of molecular astrophysics at Leiden Observatory in the Netherlands, called the discovery "unexpected and exciting."

"It builds on their earlier discoveries of smaller aromatic molecules, but to make the jump now to the pyrene family is huge. Not only does it demonstrate that a significant fraction of carbon is locked up in these molecules, but it also points to different formation routes of aromatics than have been considered so far," says van Dishoeck, who was not involved in the research.

An abundance of pyrene

Interstellar clouds like TMC-1 may eventually give rise to stars, as clumps of dust and gas coalesce into larger bodies and begin to heat up. Planets, asteroids, and comets arise from some of the gas and dust that surround young stars. Scientists can't look back in time at the interstellar cloud that gave rise to our own solar system, but the discovery of pyrene in TMC-1, along with the presence of large amounts of pyrene in the asteroid Ryugu, suggests that pyrene may have been the source of much of the carbon in our own solar system.

"We now have, I would venture to say, the strongest evidence ever of this direct molecular inheritance from the cold cloud all the way through to the actual rocks in the solar system," McGuire says.

The researchers now plan to look for even larger PAH molecules in TMC-1. They also hope to investigate the question of whether the pyrene found in TMC-1 was formed within the cold cloud or whether it arrived from elsewhere in the universe, possibly from the high-energy combustion processes that surround dying stars.

WHAT IS PYRENE?

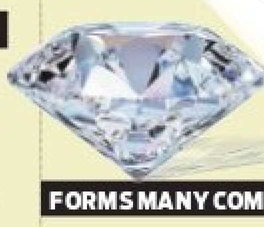
'Pyrene is a carbon-containing compound; a polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbon (PAH) made up of four fused benzene rings. Its chemical formula is C16H10. Pyrene is created when organic compounds undergo incomplete combustion.

An all-round element

Carbon is a unique element found in nature, with the symbol 'C' and atomic number '6'

CHEMICAL PROPERTIES

Carbon is the fourth most abundant element in the universe, and is a primary component of most life-supporting compounds. It's highly unreactive under normal conditions



FORMS MANY COMPOUNDS

Carbon can form single, double, or triple bonds with other carbon atoms or with atoms of other elements. For eg., it forms single bonds with itself or hydrogen, double bonds with oxygen, and triple bonds with nitrogen.

FOUND IN MANY PLACES

Carbon is present in the Sun and other stars, in the atmospheres of many planets, and in almost all living things. It's also found in the Earth's crust, and is the second most plentiful component in the human body by mass

MANY FORMS

Carbon has many pure forms, including graphite, diamond, fullerenes, and graphene. Diamond is a colourless, transparent, crystalline solid and the hardest known material

MANY USES

Carbon compounds are used as fuels, and as a feedstock for the petrochemical industries. Carbon is also used in the production of polymers, fibres, paints, solvents, and plastics

DEFORESTATION EFFECT

HUMAN ACTIONS CAUSE INSECT COLOUR CHANGE

NEW Zealand's native stoneflies have changed colour in response to human-driven environmental changes, new research shows. Just published in the journal Science, the University of Otago study provides arguably the world's most clear-cut case of animal evolution in response to change made by humans. Co-author Professor Jon Waters, of the Department of Zoology, says the stonefly has become a different colour due to recent deforestation. "In natural forested regions, a native species has evolved 'warning' colours that mimic those of a poisonous forest species, to trick predators into thinking they are poisonous too. "But the removal of forests since humans arrived has removed the poisonous species. As a result, in deforested regions the mimicking species has abandoned this strategy – as there is nothing to mimic – instead evolving into a different colour." Scientists have long wondered whether humans are causing evolutionary changes in natural populations. The most well-known example of evolution caused by humans was the peppered moth population in the United Kingdom, which changed colour in response to industrial pollution in the 1800s. But Professor Waters says even that case has been considered controversial. This new study shows how humans have changed the way native species interact. Co-author Dr Graham McCulloch says humans have disrupted ecological interactions between species that evolved over millions of years, but some of our native species are resilient enough to overcome this. "This study is important because it shows that, at least for some of our native species, there is the possibility of adapting to the environmental changes caused by humans, even when the change is rapid," Dr McCulloch says. "It also shows that independent populations have undergone similar changes in response to deforestation – there have been similar shifts independently in different parts of the species' range – showing that evolution can be a predictable process."

BEHIND THE SCIENCE

TIVADAR PUSKAS

AN EXCHANGE FOR COMMUNICATION

GARGI DESHPANDE

TODAY, if we can make phone calls and connect with people at the other end of the globe with just one touch, it is because of this Hungarian scientist who pioneered telephone exchange - Tivadar Puskas. After Alexander Graham Bell invented the telephone, Tivadar Puskas came up with the idea of telephone exchange, the invention that made numerous telephone calls possible. Working on Thomas Alva Edison's telegraph exchange model, Puskas worked on the same thing for the telephone.

Born in Budapest, to a once-wealthy family, on September 12, 1844, Puskas was home-educated, and later studied law in Vienna. He continued his studies in engineering sciences and worked as an educator in an English nobleman's family to provide for himself. After graduating as a mechanical engineer, and gathering work experience, he moved to Transylvania, Romania, where he was employed as an official of a local railway company. In 1876, Graham Bell invented the telephone, which inspired Puskás, and triggered an even more interesting idea. Puskas contacted Edison and convinced him to create a telephone exchange based on the model of telegraph exchange.

Based on this plan, the first experimental telephone exchange was created in Boston, in 1877. Two years later, he set up Europe's first telephone exchange in Paris, and later, another telephone exchange was set up in Budapest.

In 1887, Puskas introduced his new invention, the multiplex switchboard, which added to the development of the telephone exchange. In 1893, he introduced the Telephone News Service, which announced news and broadcast programmes. This can also be considered as the prototype for the radio and internet.

Thanks to the telephone exchange, more than half a million people could listen to the first 'telephone newspaper' that Puskás started. Unfortunately, Tivadar Puskas passed away the same year without gaining any recognition for his work in his lifetime. From the birth of the telephone to last-mile mobile phone penetration today, the telephone exchange has played an integral role as a bridge for communication technology.

HOW IT WORKS

THE HIDDEN POWERS OF ANAESTHESIA: A PAIN-FREE MIRACLE

POOJA K

THE medical field is continuously expanding thanks to new discoveries. Similarly, surgical procedures that were painful centuries ago, have become pain-free because of anaesthesia.

Anaesthesia makes surgeries possible and helps patients undergo procedures without pain or distress, as it temporarily blocks the sensations in specific parts of the body by inducing a controlled unconscious state.

Anaesthesia as we know it today, was discovered after a series of experiments. In the very beginning, it was used as a pain reliever just like alcohol. In the late 18th century, British chemist Joseph Priestly discovered nitrous oxide (laughing gas), and in 1799, Humphry Davy identified its pain-relieving effects, but he did not see any medical applications. In 1842, American physician Dr Crawford Long used 'ether' for the first time to numb a patient before surgery, but he was unable to publish his studies. In 1846, Dr William TG Morton, a dentist, publicly demonstrated the anaesthetic effects of ether, and created a breakthrough in surgical medicine. Shortly after this, chloroform's anesthetic effects were also discovered. These early discoveries gradually laid the foundation for anaesthesia, which has evolved, transforming medicine and paving the way for painless surgeries.

Anaesthesia works by altering the brain and nervous system. It blocks pain signals, reduces awareness and will have temporary control over bodily functions. There are three types of anaesthesia, and each works differently based on the medical procedure and the desired effect.

American physician Dr Crawford Long used 'ether' for the first time to numb a patient before surgery

General anaesthesia

It induces a controlled unconscious state, and is often used in major surgeries. These drugs are administered through inhalation or an IV, putting the individual in a deep sleep-like state, where the brain's perception of pain and awareness is completely blocked. General anesthesia enhances the inhibitory signals or blocks the excitatory signals in the brain; as a result, the patient feels no pain, nor will have any memory of the procedure.

Regional anesthesia

It is used to block the pain in certain areas. For eg., spinal or epidural anaesthesia is commonly used during childbirth or while operating on limbs. These anaesthetic drugs are usually injected near the nerves, because of which the nerve signals in the regions are blocked temporarily. The drug numbs the area by inhibiting sodium channels in the nerve cells and stops the pain signals from reaching the brain.

Local anesthesia

It is used for minor procedures. It numbs the small localised area where the drug has been injected. Local anaesthesia is either injected or applied directly to the site, as it temporarily blocks the nerve endings and pain transmissions in that specific area of the body.

During anaesthesia, the patient's vital signs are closely observed to ensure safety, because once the effects of anaesthesia wear off, or if the anaesthetic is stopped, the body gradually returns to a normal state as the nerves and brain functions resume. While inducing anaesthesia into a patient, the anaesthesiologist must monitor several critical factors like the patient's age, medical history, vital signs, allergies, airway assessment and breathing, depth of anaesthesia, and patient's response to drugs. Knowing these will allow the anaesthesiologist to act quickly if any complications arise during the surgical procedures.

JOY & JITTERS

The festive season brings with it FOMO for some and JOMO for others. For many, it also comes with the subtle tug of 'festival anxiety' — an issue Bengalureans are increasingly grappling with

WHY do we celebrate festivals? For many, they're a time for joy, connection, and a bit of well-deserved indulgence. But as festive lights brighten our surroundings, they can also bring a mix of emotions. Alongside the cheer, there's often a swirl of preparations, social gatherings, and maybe even a hint of pressure. Whether you're looking forward to family gatherings or find yourself wondering how to juggle it all, you're not alone. Many people experience both excitement and a bit of festive stress – and that's perfectly okay!

While some eagerly await the lights and laughter, others feel a subtle tug of 'festival anxiety', a term many might not have heard but can relate to. Bengaluru-based event organiser, Ekta Singh, explains, "I always feel anxious around festivals. The anxiety often comes from some kind of Fear of Missing Out (FOMO). It's like, 'Oh, it's Deepavali, and you have to shop, indulge, go to parties, host a party – it's stressful.'" Raksha Shenoy, an entrepreneur, pitches in: "It is the pressure of following all the rules. I cope by avoiding work. The Deepavali parties I host have reduced now. It's just a few close people and dinner at home."

The Reel Paradox

For those who feel a bit overwhelmed with the piling tasks, it's natural to feel both excitement and be full of nerves. Mental health professionals reassure that this blend of emotions is common, especially when there's so much happening around us. While not an official diagnosis, clinical psychologist Anjaly Anilkumar says, "People experience increased sensitivity with so much activity around them, leading to sensory overload." In today's world, festivals are often showcased on social media in picture-perfect snapshots. Social media amplifies the expectation to 'do it all' – celebrate with flair, stay trendy, and make each moment count. Singh shares, "There's definitely peer pressure, largely created through social media and e-commerce sites throwing sales at you. Ads come up everywhere, influencers talk about what to wear, what to eat – it creates a sense of, 'Am I doing enough for the festival?'"

Family reunions are often an integral part of festivals, but they can also bring a unique set of challenges. "A lot of families don't know how to navigate conflicts. Unhealthy dynamics, unresolved conflicts, and poor communication lead to misunderstandings and unspoken grievances. The fear of judgement is common, as family members may make comparisons about weight, earnings, achievements, and lifestyle. There is this pressure to 'be-it-all' that can be anxiety-inducing," shares Dr Singhal. For others, like Anuradha R, it's the feeling of lost traditions and the fading sense of community bonding. Her nostalgic memories of Dasara's Gombe Habba reveal a desire to reconnect in meaningful ways. "When we were kids, we would go visiting houses, enjoying prasada from different homes. That sense of connection has faded. Today, people hesitate to visit, which limits community bonding," shares Anuradha in a wistful tone. "Apart from the challenges of organising Gombe Habba, I feel the most brought down by this aspect. We want to bring back that community feeling, where people come together and connect, but it's not that easy."

CELEBRATE AT YOUR PACE

Mental health professionals suggest small changes to keep festive stress at bay. Anjaly Anilkumar, a clinical psychologist, advises a digital detox. "Setting aside specific time for social media each day can help avoid overstimulation." Dr Singhal emphasises, "It's okay to skip a few events or say 'no' if you feel overwhelmed." She also suggests grounding techniques, like deep breathing or mindfulness, as helpful tools during stressful situations. Singh's advice for those feeling pressured to go all-out is to remember the core of the celebration: "A warm meal and close company can create a more meaningful atmosphere." Arzoo Fakih, a mindset coach and counsellor, says introverts should communicate in advance to set expectations about how much time they'll spend socialising. If anxiety is disrupting your daily life, consider talking to a mental health professional.

The trigger is social expectations...fitting into the group and if someone tries to open up, the common reaction is, "Everyone feels that & you are thinking too much!", which adds to the anxiety

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

① Jamshedji Tata's contribution to Karnataka particularly Bengaluru is immense. The city can boast of having The Indian Institute of Science, popularly called TATA Institute, conceived by JN Tata, is one of the premier scientific research establishments in the country. The Institute was set up on 371-acre land donated by the Regent Maharani Vani Vilas of Mysore (Since Maharaja Krishnaraja Wadiyar was a minor). Which year was it established? 1909 or 1929?

② JN Tata has significantly contributed to developing sericulture in Karnataka. With a vision of setting up scientific sericulture in India, he established a sericulture farm with a weaving unit on Japanese lines in 1896, which later came to be known as Tata Silk Farm. K Sheshadri Iyer, the then dewan of Mysore helped him in providing a rent-free grant of land with an annual subsidy. Where in Karnataka was this famous unit set up? Mysuru or Bengaluru?

③ Bengaluru is one of the four leading players in electronics and telecommunication in the world housing over 2000 IT companies. The Information Technology Park (ITPL), one of the largest in India housing over 150 companies, was set up in the city in 1997 on a joint venture between the Government of Karnataka, TATA Group and the Singapore Consortium. Which area on the outskirts of the city (now a major part of Greater Bengaluru) is ITPL located? Whitefield or Yelahanka?

Teesta Troupers performed their Nepali pop/hip-hop music over the weekend, telling the story of young people growing up beside the Teesta Highway in remote West Bengal

'Trouping' Down the Highway

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

TWO years ago, several youngsters gathered in a small room under the Teesta Highway in Kalimpong, West Bengal to jam – united by their experiences of coming of age in the precarious socio-economic reality of the region and a love for music. Out of this group emerged the Teesta Troupers, who released their debut album Sound of Streets in April and performed at the Ziro Music Festival earlier this year. They performed their music inspired by the Highway and the hustle, melancholy and dreams of young people impacted by it in Bengaluru recently as a part of 'Past Forward: The Pleasure, Purpose, and Practice of Arts Research', a festival organised by India Foundation for the Arts at Bangalore International Centre, Domlur.

The band, composed of rappers, Anil Chhetri, Ashish Karkidoli, Manoj Tamang, folk singer Daniel Gandarba, and DJ Sudeep Rajak, sings in Nepali with music that is a mix of pop and hip-hop with folk influences. The lyrics of their latest album are deeply personal, reflective, and informed by the destruction wrought around the Teesta Highway by last October's floods. According to Chhetri, their performances aim to transport the audience to the place the music is rooted in. "All our songs are real stories. If the audience understands our lyrics and feels them, it will be like touring the area of Teesta, Darjeeling and Kalimpong," he says.

The jam room and subsequently, the band, emerged from an ongoing arts research project, Water Cuts Stone by the band Gauley Bhai's vocalist, Veecheet Dhakal. It sought to understand the impact of the Teesta Highway and other large infrastructural projects on the cultural practices of the region. "The hydro dams destroyed all means of livelihood that used to exist earlier, including tourism, farming and fishing. People were being forced to do labour work, either in the tunnels, dams or the construction of the highway. Because of these conditions, the situation is dire, with one of the highest suicide rates in the entire Himalayan region. Addiction is also rampant," explains Dhakal.

He noticed that although traditional folk music practices of the tribes, clans and castes that the youth belonged to had been lost due to drastic lifestyle changes, the youth was still engaged in making music that was more contemporary. The jam room, where Dhakal and his band played music with them and taught the basics, became a refuge and creative outlet. "I felt that if there was some kind of a space where these kids could engage in some way, apart from labour, where they can practice music from a young age, then there may be a way for them to find a better way of life. If you can't change the environment, you can change the state of mind," he adds.

Despite these hardships, the band's music is far from gloomy. "It sounds dark when I give the context, but actually the music is emotional, dance-y and in a way, it is celebratory. The gigs also reflect the same energy, they also have a lot of style," says Dhakal.

Although the jam room washed away in floods last year, the group has continued rehearsing and making music in whatever spaces they could find. For their performance in Bengaluru, the band overcame the language barrier with translations and storytelling. "They drew a narrative to go from song one to two. It's like a journey with the Teesta Troupers, along the highway, their experiences and their goals," says Dhakal.

Importance of Understanding the Warning Signs of a Stroke

DR MAHENDRA JV

During a stroke, the brain experiences a sudden cessation of receiving the blood and oxygen that it needs. Strokes can also occur due to bleeding in the brain that may result in the disruption of the regular blood flow as well as putting harmful pressure on brain tissues. Both these cases can cause damage to the brain cells, leading to a potential disability or in some cases, even death.

The preliminary signs of stroke, depending on the specific parts of the brain being affected, can help in determining the extent of damage caused. One may simply feel weak on one side, the other may lose mobility, have trouble in speech and even seeing, suddenly. It is, therefore, important to identify and understand the warning signs of stroke – in ourselves and others – and get immediate treatment.

When it comes to stroke, the common symptoms of stroke can be recognized using the FAST Test.

F for Face: Check for drooping in the face when you smile. If it droops, it may indicate muscle weakness, or paralysis that can happen only on one side of the body.

A for Arms: Try raising both your arms and check if one drops down. That is another sign to watch out for.

S for Speech: A slurry or strangely spoken words is a major indicator of stroke. It may become difficult to talk after suffering a stroke.

T for Time: If all or any of the above is affirmative, call for help right away. Remember to note down the symptoms or the warning signs to inform the doctor.

There might be incidences when the stroke may occur gradually and show symptoms such as headache, numbness, nausea, and trouble in walking or coordinating. It is important to identify, stay prepared, and get medical help immediately to avoid severe damage later.

A guide to stargazing

Stargazing is a gateway to the universe, offering a blend of science, wonder, and personal discovery. Here is how you can begin your own astronomical adventure.

Start: The naked eye is your first telescope. Begin by identifying major constellations and bright stars using a star chart or smartphone apps. Watch the moon's phases, spot planets and catch the occasional meteor.

Upgrade: Invest in a pair of binoculars. They're portable, intuitive and reveal stunning details of lunar craters and star clusters. Visit local astronomy clubs to test different telescope models before considering getting one.

ASK AN XPERT

Find your dark sky oasis: Light pollution is the stargazer's nemesis. Scout out dark locations away from city lights, perhaps a nearby hill, beach, or rural area. You would be surprised how much more you can see.

Develop your cosmic calendar: Astronomy is often event-driven. Keep track of meteor showers and eclipses. Learn about seasonal constellations and deep-sky objects. Start a stargazing journal to record your observations.

Connect: Join local astronomy clubs to share your passion. Attend star parties or public observatory nights. These gatherings are goldmines of knowledge and inspiration.

FITBIT

ADHO MUKHA SVANASANA VARIATION TOES (DOWNWARD FACING DOG POSE VARIATION TOES)

This is a very nice variation of Adho Mukha Svanasana (Downward Facing Dog Pose). This variation is used as a transit pose in Ashtanga Vinyasa Yoga, where one gets into various other poses like Uttanasana, Dandasana, or Lotus Pose. This being a beginner level yoga pose that is performed in standing and toes position involves forward-bend, stretch, inversion and strength. Therefore, this pose can be included in yoga sequences.

STEPS

- Stand in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), feet together and firmly rooted on the floor.
- Inhale, roll the shoulders back and join the palms together.
- Slowly bend your legs at the knees like you are sitting on a chair.
- Ensure your knees are in line with the toes. If you struggle with balancing the body by keeping both legs together, you can leave a few inches of gap between the legs. Take a deep breath here.
- Balance your weight on your heels, and stretch your spine and legs. Then come to Downward Facing Dog Pose.
- From here, come on to your toes to give a deeper stretch to the hamstrings, calves and the muscles around the hips.
- Stay here for six breaths while stretching the hamstrings. Exhale and push the torso inwards.
- Deeper stretch to the hamstrings and the hip muscles (lower body) while focusing on the shoulders and the arm muscles (upper body), results in maximum flexibility.
- Finally, release the pose and relax in Balasana (Child Pose).

BENEFITS

- Strengthens the knees, tones the glutes, outer thigh muscles, and quadriceps.
- Stretches the arms, armpits, shoulders and feet muscles, lengthening the spine.
- Improves blood flow to your head and hearing abilities.
- Energises the body for more intense hip opening and core vinyasa sequences.
- Relieves muscle fatigue with sustainable stretching and toning.
- Benefits the circulatory, respiratory and nervous systems.
- Helps diabetic patients with reducing their blood sugar, open up the nasal blocks, flushes out the sinuses and better sleep at night.
- Helps balancing mental stability.
- Teens, women, athletes, and postnatal women can practise it to keep their bodies fit.

LIMITATIONS

- Students who have knee, shoulder, ankle, or wrist injuries or surgeries on spine, hip, knee, shoulder surgeries, weak bodies, ankles, joints and bones, shoulders, wrists, migraines, high blood pressure, vertigo-related ailments, arthritis-knees, carpal tunnel syndrome, senior citizens and pregnant women, should avoid this pose.

CRACKING THE CODE

After serving in the Indian Foreign Service for over three decades, former ambassador N Parthasarathi discusses his latest book, Navigating UPSC CSE: A Roadmap to Success

POOJA DAS

WHETHER you're from the Baby Boomer generation or Gen Z, one thing hasn't changed: the daunting challenge of clearing the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) exam. Known for its low acceptance rate and high standards, UPSC exams for the Indian Foreign Service (IFS), Indian Administrative Service (IAS), Indian Police Service (IPS), and other prestigious positions are the dreams of millions of Indian aspirants. Yet, only a small fraction succeed. After mentoring students for many years and seeing their sheer resilience in the face of many odds, N Parthasarathi, former ambassador to South Korea, Consul-General of India in San Francisco, and seasoned Foreign Service officer, decided to write the book Navigating UPSC CSE (₹160, Unique Publishers) to shed light on what it takes to ace this exam. "I recognised the need for proper guidance," he explains. "There's an overwhelming lack of direction that often leads talented individuals to lose precious time."

Each year, approximately 12 to 15 lakh candidates apply for the civil service exams, yet many face confusion in preparation. He observes that while back in the day, they had limited access to study material and books, today the problem is the 'opposite'. "There's an overload of information. The main challenge for aspirants is figuring out what to read and what not to read, leading to the fear of missing out. The pressure to read everything can be overwhelming, causing them to lose sight of what's actually necessary," he says.

Parthasarathi wanted to create a resource that goes beyond standard guidebooks. "We wanted to create a book by putting ourselves in the shoes of the aspirants," he shares. The book's approach is practical, tackling common doubts, such as which books to prioritise, foundational knowledge, and effective study schedules. It also highlights tools for time management and strategies for 'smart study' — identifying core material to focus on without getting overwhelmed by irrelevant details.

While new technologies like ChatGPT and Gemini offer aspirants an edge in research and revision, Parthasarathi emphasises that they should not replace critical thinking. "AI can assist, validate, and refine your knowledge, but it should not be a substitute for analysis," he cautions. His guidebook instructs students on using these tools effectively, reinforcing that the UPSC exam demands comprehension, analysis, and concise communication rather than mere memorisation.

Beyond written exams, the UPSC interview – or personality test – is a crucial component of selection. This stage evaluates not just knowledge but also personality, communication skills, and self-presentation. Parthasarathi highlights key insights his book offers, such as maintaining eye contact, guiding the conversation, and answering questions thoughtfully. "When people write about their hobbies on the application, they often don't give it enough thought. But a hobby should be something you are knowledgeable in, more than the average person. Interviewers may ask about this, and often aspirants struggle to give meaningful answers," he adds.

The seasoned diplomat aims to extend its impact to rural aspirants who may feel under-resourced or discouraged. "We want to inspire everyone, regardless of background, to pursue their dreams," he says.

The hitchhiker's guide to Deepavali parties

SO it has happened, dear reader. You have been invited to a few Deepavali parties, and have awkwardly accepted all the invites. You need to navigate your way through the parties, and are wondering which to attend, how to sail through the discussions, and have the optimum amount of food, booze, and sweets while handling the traffic. Worry not, dear reader – for your friendly neighbourhood humour columnist has all the answers. But before we begin, can we take half a paragraph to acknowledge how awesome Deepavali as a festival is? It has something for everybody across age, gender, and political spectra. Drinks, food, new clothes, card parties, crackers, and poojas. Something for every member of the family. Every type of person in society.

In such a situation, it is best to be a little selfish. Planning out your Deepavali parties requires care and attention. Filter out your parties by your preference. Deepavali is a busy festival and nobody has the time to take offence. As a principle, I avoid parties where YouTube is being played. If you haven't read my earlier columns, YouTube is a modern rakshasa, sucking the life out of every party. Choose your parties based on your Ikigai around food, crackers, booze, and card games. I shouldn't be saying this is in a humour column, but go easy on the food. Deepavali is the night when vegetarian food shines its brightest. Paneer dishes that you usually ignore will seduce you in new avatars. Resist! It will be hard, but remember that you have a long night ahead. If drinks are being served along with opinions, go easy on the drinks and opinions. Familiarise yourself with Cheteshwar Pujara's innings. Slow and steady. It's probably the crackers, but people are on their toes on Diwali, their nerves on edge. Don't gulp drinks and burp out opinions. Don't go Viru Sehwag on them – lofting the first opinion over long-on. Because no matter who wins the match, the host is penalised.

I shouldn't be telling you this in a humour column, but do not drink and drive. With all the crackers bursting around you, even if you crash into a tree, people will assume it's an Onion Bomb and move on. Traffic is at its peak at night, which should be no surprise. If you're on a two-wheeler, be mindful that stray dogs are on their edge too. They either retire into a corner, or invoke the spirit of Usain Bolt and chase you down an entire highway! Tip your riders graciously – it's Deepavali , after all! Upon reaching the next venue, do a personal self-evaluation. The second innings is usually the crucial one in a test match, and you are Cheteshwar Pujara.

Card games are time-consuming and wallet-lightening. And then the sweets come out. After good food and drinks have entered your system, the sweets will seem magically more alluring. Resist. Use every method possible. I ask myself – "How many great movies does Bobby Deol have?". And end up with 3-4 sweets. If crackers are thrown into the mix, kindly read the packaging. Many of our childhood crackers have graduated to 2-in-1 bombs and we didn't get the latest update. Practice moderation, and you will not face the same fate that Narakasura did many moons ago.

Deepavali is our Christmas, St. Peter's Day, Martyr's Day - all rolled into one. It's the last great day of the year. The rest will be spent in judging ourselves over our yearly targets and goals. 'If you plan out your Deepavali party well, it is a source of great fun and adventure' – Osho (probably!). Happy Deepavali!

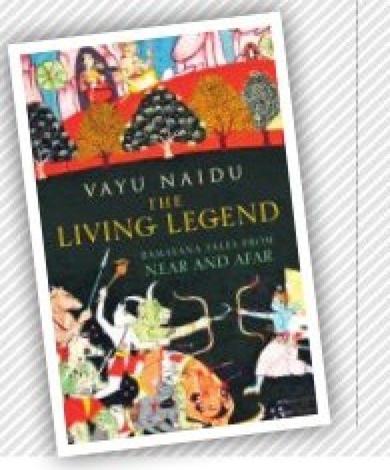
New Ramayana retelling to be released

Vayu Naidu's novel The Living Legend (₹399)offers a fresh perspective on the timeless saga of Rama, Sita, and Lakshmana, set against the Dandaka Forest. The novel follows 16 year-old Rama and his companions on their journey of exile as they strive to restore balance in their lives and the world around them, exploring themes of courage, trust, and resilience along the way. Combining ancient myth and eco-literature, Naidu brings nature to life as a central character, reflecting modern environmental concerns. The Living Legend will be available bookstores and online platforms this Deepavali.



Popular historian's book to release in Nov

Popular historian Manu S Pillai's new book Gods, Guns and Missionaries (₹999), published by Penguin Random House India is set for release in November. The book dives into the complex dynamics of colonial India where British powers encountered Hinduism for the first time. Under Western frames of thinking, Hindus felt pressed to reimagine their religion, leaving a lasting impact on modern Hinduism's present shape. With a vast cast of characters from maharajahs and poets to gun-wielding revolutionaries and politicians, the book is a political history, a review of Hindu culture and a study of the social forces that prepared the ground for Hindu nationalism.

The doctor-turned-director, now helming his second film, starring Sriimurali and produced by Hombale Films, credits his growth as a director to lessons learned from Prashanth Neel

A still from the film

IT TOOK ME TWO YEARS TO DEVELOP THE SCREENPLAY FOR BAGHEERA: DR SURI

Vijay Kiragandur and Dr Suri

Rukmini Vasanth

Prashanth Neel

A SHARADHAA

FOR those who dream of directing, the journey can often be long and winding. Dr Suri, who made his debut with Lucky, knows this all too well. After a decade-long wait, he finally returns to the director's chair with Bagheera. "After Lucky, I was on a quest for the perfect script," he shares, reflecting on the years. "I even had the chance to direct Yash; we were on the verge of finalising a project. But as the stories evolved, I felt that I wanted Yash to be part of something bigger."

Curiously, one might wonder how a doctor transitioned to directing. Dr Suri explains, "My medical degree was to fulfill my father's wish; we come from a family of doctors. But directing was my true passion, my dream all along." With a chuckle, he adds, "And here I am!"

Bagheera has its roots in a concept by KGF director Prashanth Neel. While Suri is responsible for the screenplay, dialogue, and direction, he explains the significance of the title. "Bagheera is a name familiar in The Jungle Book, but it also carries a Sanskrit essence. The character is a vigilante, fighting for justice at night. I thought, what better inspiration than the Black Panther? But that name is already iconic in cinema. So, I settled on Bagheera, which holds our nativity."

The film brings together friends who bonded over this project. Dr Suri, a good friend of Sriimurali, forged a strong connection with Prashanth Neel during the making of KGF. "If I hadn't learned from Prashanth, I wouldn't have evolved as a director to this level," he confesses. "Spending ten years observing his work taught me so much."

But does Suri see himself as a competitor to Prashanth? "No," he laughs. "It's like asking if I could compete with Sachin Tendulkar! I can be a Sehwag, but Prashanth is that Tendulkar who is in a league of his own." Yet, their friendship thrives on spirited arguments. "We often debate and argue over creativity. Our discussions can get intense because we both believe in our ideas," he adds.

The theme of Bagheera revolves around the classic struggle of good versus evil. "While this theme is common in commercial action films, what sets Bagheera apart is its lack of personal agendas. It's about societal justice, making it unique," Suri says. Suri goes on to add, "I enjoyed crafting Vedanth's character, finding excitement in both his roles as a vigilante and a superhero."

Talking about his journey, Suri remarks, "Three years of patience was involved in this project. What began with Lucky, Bagheera became a massive canvas, backed by one of the biggest production houses, Vijay Kiragandur's Hombale Films, with Prashanth Neel and Sriimurali as pillars. The greatest challenge was having such a formidable production house believe in me, and through the making, I had their support at the back of my mind."

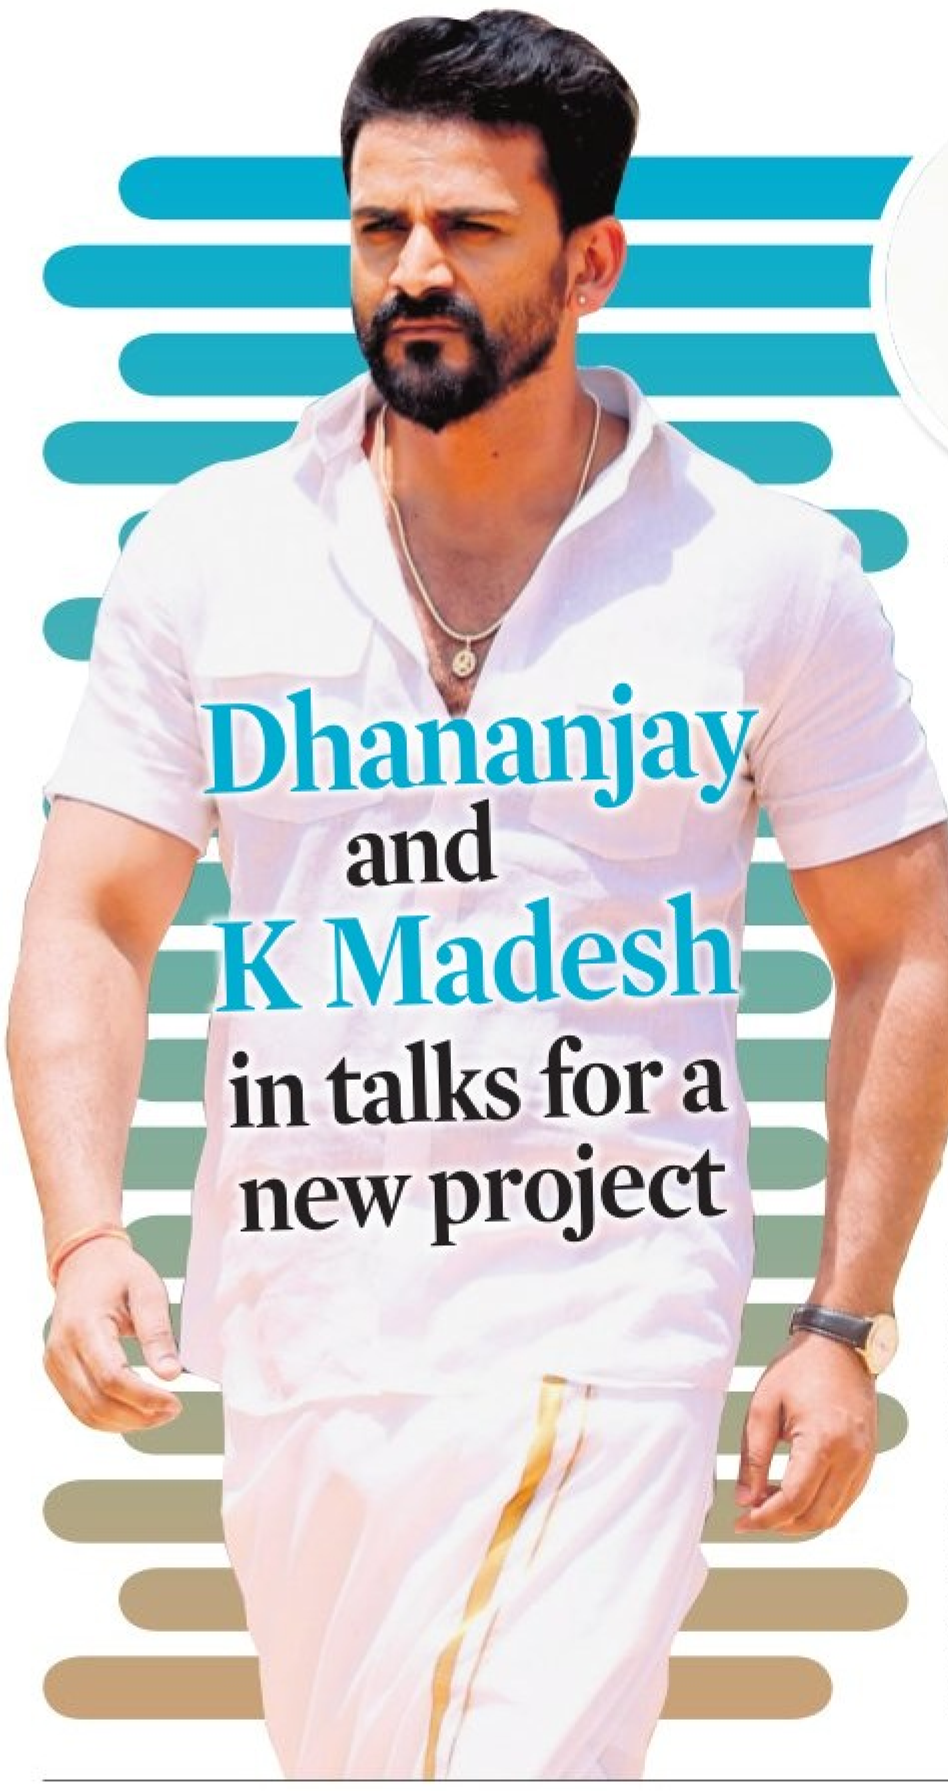
If Prashanth Neel had directed Bagheera, would it have turned out differently? "Prashanth's approach to filmmaking is distinct, and that thought never crossed my mind. He provided a concept, but Bagheera is entirely my vision. It took me two years to develop the screenplay," he asserts.

Even amidst the action, Bagheera intertwines a heartfelt mother-son relationship. "Mother sentiments have always been a staple in cinema, and they fit seamlessly into our story," he explains passionately.

As Bagheera's release approaches, Suri likens it to a superhero film for the Kannada industry, drawing parallels to Western superhero concepts. "We've strived to present something fresh for Indian audiences," he says. The film will debut in both Kannada and Telugu on October 31, with hopes of following in the footsteps of Kantara and potentially expanding to Hindi and other languages later.

In conclusion, Suri passionately invites audiences to experience Bagheera. "It's an emotional saga about a young boy with a desire to do good for society—a superhero in the making, packed with emotional highs and exhilarating action."

Dhananjay and K Madesh in talks for a new project



K Madesh

CE FEATURES

DHANANJAY is on a roll. The actor is currently shooting for Shankar Guru's Anna From Mexico and working on his historical film Halagali, helmed by Sukesh Nayak. At the same time, he is gearing up for Nadaprabhu Kempegowda, directed by TS Nagabharana, and has Uttarakanda in the pipeline. The latest buzz is that he is in talks with director K Madesh for a new project.

K Madesh, known for hits like Raam Gaja, and Brindavana, confirmed the news to CE, stating, "We are in discussions, and I have narrated a story to Dhananjay, which he has liked. We are looking at other commitments, but it is going to be an out-and-out mass entertainer for Daali."

The director further added that the story is tailored specifically for Dhananjay and fits today's cinematic trends. "Once we get the green signal from the production house, we'll be ready to move forward," Madesh added.

I'm optimistic that Karma Chakrdol Mr.E will open doors to bigger projects: Real Ranna

Real Ranna

CE FEATURES

A FEW artists manage to break boundaries and transition from one art form to another. Until now, there have been some who transitioned from being rappers to actors, observes Real Ranna.

Having mostly played villain roles, he says, "I aspire to take on various kinds of characters." His latest venture is a role in the film Karma Chakrdol Mr.E directed by Akash Joshi. "This film could be the big break I've been waiting for," he shares.

Real Ranna's journey into rap began with the infectious rhythms of his band All Okay's songs. "I found my voice through experimentation," he recalls. It was Akash Joshi who opened the door to acting for him. "Opportunities began to unfold, and I grabbed them," he says, reflecting on his roles in short films like Antara Kalaha and The Cave of Garadipura.

When life demanded work for a living, he took up acting wholeheartedly. "I was determined to find opportunities beyond a single job," he shares. His persistence paid off when director Ramji selected him for a role after an audition. He was recently seen in films like Hejjaru in a negative role and Back Benchers. "Every role teaches me something new," he reflects.

Meanwhile, All Okay's latest rap album, 'I,' has also struck a chord with audiences. "This rap song aims to inspire action against atrocities," he notes.

Real Ranna continues to produce rap albums like 'Post Mortem' and 'Sumne Hange,' all of which have gained popularity. Known as the first Kannada artist to create an Instagram album, he's also made a mark in the social media space. "I want to introduce unprecedented technologies in the Kannada independent music scene," he asserts.

Real Ranna says that he has played the Karma Chakrdol Mr.E villain, Dhamaru, with conviction. "I'm optimistic that this film will open doors to bigger projects," he expresses. While most offers have come for villain characters, filmmakers often fix him in these roles at first glance. Yet, a resolute Real Ranna says, "I want to explore a variety of roles beyond just villains."

'AMARAN IS THE EMOTIONAL JOURNEY OF A SOLDIER'

Actor Sivakarthikeyan speaks about his experience filming for Amaran, how he related to Major Mukund Varadarajan, what he learned from Kottukkaali, and more

PRASHANTH VALLAVAN

PEOPLE in the army often talk about how a career in the armed forces is more than just a job; it is a lifestyle. In order to capture that lifestyle in a realistic manner, the makers of Amaran have gone to extraordinary lengths. Actor Sivakarthikeyan, who portrays Major Mukund Varadarajan in the film, speaks about how it was surreal to be on the sets. "We shot in the place Mukund sir was stationed. Every day, we had to travel by road to the location, through Pulwama. Inside the dormitories, there were several AK 47 guns propped up against the wall. We once shot a scene where I was lying on the bed and I rolled over to see grenades. It was a completely new experience for all of us but for the officers, it was their everyday life," he says. While a significant portion of the scenes were shot in sensitive areas, the actor reveals that the Amaran crew was given a three-layer protection. He added, "We shot in Kashmir for three months and our director Rajkumar Periasamy was uncompromising with his vision for a realistic film."

On the topic of realism, the actor also had to imbibe the characteristics of Major Mukund. Sivakarthikeyan says, "I met Mukund sir's senior in Mumbai to learn about him. He was not your stereotypical military officer who was strict and stoic. He seemed to have been a person who liked to have fun." The actor also found him relatable. "This is not a story about one particular mission. Amaran captures the life journey of Mukund sir. He lived in Tambaram and came from a middle-class family. His mother had inhibitions about him joining the army. Everything about him is relatable," he says. The actor then goes on to confess that he would have never taken up the role if the film was about one mission. "Amaran is the emotional journey of a soldier and that is what made me choose the project," he says. Apart from the incredible life journey of Major Mukund, Sivakarthikeyan also realised that a film like Amaran could break his limitations and help explore his range as a performer. "Rajkumar didn't want any of my strengths for this film," he says, before adding, "Instead, he wanted me to bring to the table my ability to connect with the audience."

With Sivakarthikeyan's strengths being humour and the ability to shine in light-hearted boy-next-door roles, one could surmise that the director was looking to extract an emotionally intense performance. Sivakarthikeyan elaborates on the emotional heft of the film, "Mukund sir's story is well known and we have seen films like this before in Hindi and in English. But Rajkumar has tried his best to give a different treatment to the story, he has added a small change. However, this is an emotionally heavy film." When asked about the reception from the army officers, Sivakarthikeyan recounts the first day of shooting. "When we first met the army officers, I thought they would be excited but they were not. They told me military films often exaggerate a lot and that they rarely like them. I felt a bit dejected then. We got a lot of feedback from them but I did not want to make false promises. A few days ago, we held a screening, which was attended by everyone from jawans to army chief's. They were very happy and told me it felt like they were watching themselves," says a visibly excited Sivakarthikeyan.

Speaking about the feedback from his producer Kamal Haasan, the actor reveals, "I was happy to know that he liked the film. He said, 'We have done our job to perfection. Now, it is all up to the audience.'" Before signing on to Amaran, Kamal Haasan had congratulated Sivakarthikeyan for producing an experimental film like Kottukkaali. On whether he would act in a film like Kottukkaali, the actor lightheartedly replies, "You saw how they treated Kottukkaali." He then elaborates on why he doesn't think it is a good idea. "I was very clear about not exceeding 120 screens for Kottukkaali. We kept the marketing within social media. While the mainstream audience left disappointed, as for the audience we were targeting, it was a success. We achieved 70 percent of what we wanted for the film. Hopefully, someday, someone might achieve 100 percent success out of an experimental film," he signs off.
